

INACTIVE NATIONAL GUARD (ING) COUNSELING CHECKLIST

1. The following information is provided concerning your transfer to the Inactive Army National Guard (ING). As a member of the ING:

a. You are in inactive status. In inactive status you are not entitled to pay, not eligible for promotion, and not eligible to earn retirement points. (_____
SM initials)

b. You are subject to immediate involuntary mobilization in the event of Federal or State mobilization.
(_____
SM initials)

c. You do receive longevity credit for basic pay purposes while in inactive status. (_____
SM initials)

d. You are required to report to a one-day annual muster with your unit of assignment. (_____ SM initials)

e. You are required to maintain a current periodic health assessment, performed annually per AR 40-501, paragraph 8-20. (_____
SM initials)

f. You are required to keep your unit commander or designated representative informed of any change in your home address, your e-mail address, or your home, work, or mobile phone numbers.
(_____
SM initials)

g. You are required to keep your unit commander or designated representative informed of any changes in your status (such as physical status or family situation) that may affect your potential for future service as a mobilization asset. (_____
SM initials)

2. Official notice:

a. Your transfer to the ING, effective _____, is based on the provisions of National Guard Regulation (NGR) 614-1, paragraph 2-1 _____. (_____ SM initials)

b. The reason for such transfer is:

3. Your SGLI terminates on the 120th day after separation from active status (assignment to the ING). Soldiers transferred into the ING are entitled to and can apply for part-time SGLI and VGLI coverage. See NGR 37-104-3 for entitlements and administrative processing. Additional guidance and cost information is provided on the Department of Veterans' Affairs Life Insurance web site:
<https://www.va.gov/life-insurance/options-eligibility> (_____
SM initials)

4. At any time you may request transfer from the ING to active status in the Army National Guard (ARNG). You may also request temporary transfer to active status in order to attend Annual Training (AT) or a military school. You will be temporarily transferred to active status if you are required to participate in an administrative board. You may not be temporarily transferred into active status in order to attend Inactive Duty Training (IDT) (i.e.: weekend drills). In order to be transferred to active status pursuant to your request you must meet the standards of existing ARNG retention policies, and your request must be approved by your unit commander and the chain of command. You may also request to be released from your ARNG commitment and transfer into the Individual Ready Reserve (IRR) of the United States Army Reserve (USAR). (_____
SM initials)

5. NGR 614-1 outlines the policy concerning the ING. If you have any questions concerning your transfer to the ING or your responsibilities while a member of the ING you should contact your unit commander or designated representative. If you believe that you have been inappropriately transferred to the ING you may request that the order transferring you to the ING be revoked. (_____
SM initials)

Counselor: _____ Service Member: _____