Army AGR Application Frequently Asked Questions

1. I'm an M-day Soldier. What jobs am I eligible to apply for?

Traditional Soldiers can apply for any position that is not listed as “must be a member of the Title 32 AGR Program”.

2. I'm on Title 32 ADOS orders. Am I eligible to apply for positions listed as “open to members currently Title 32 AGR”?

Unfortunately, no, Title 32 ADOS is not the same as Title 32 AGR.

3. The advertisement is only open to Soldiers in the grades of E4-E5. I'm an E6. Am I eligible to apply?

Yes. Anyone that can become the maximum listed grade of E5 (via voluntary reduction or resignation of commissioning) is eligible to apply for the position.

4. My PHA is not within 12 months. Can I still apply?

A Soldier may only apply if the Soldier has completed the necessary steps for a PHA but the PHA is pending a provider's review. A signed memorandum from the Soldier's unit indicating the scenario behind the missing PHA is acceptable in place of the 12-month requirement for the PHA.

5. I'm a member of another military component. What positions am I eligible to apply for?

Soldiers not currently members of the ARNG or HIARNG by the closing date of the advertisement are only eligible to apply for positions listed as open to Soldiers “eligible to join the “Hawaii Army National Guard”.

Army AGR Application Frequently Asked Questions

6. What should I study to prepare for my board?

It is recommended Soldiers be prepared to answer general Soldier questions relative to the rank of the position advertised, anything related to the MOS for the position advertised and anything related to the duty title and duty description of the advertised position.

Most common errors causing packet rejection

1. Current HT/WT not within 6 months of closing date of application
2. PHA is not within 12 months
3. Soldier does not have required NCOERs/OERs and failed to submit a memorandum for missing documents
4. Soldier does not have the minimum ASVAB scores required to apply for position
5. SRB is not validated or certified
