ANNUAL REPORT
OF
THE ADJUTANT GENERAL, TERRITORY OF HAWAII
July 1, 1939—June 30, 1940

The Military Department, comprising the Headquarters of the Hawaii National Guard, is organized to carry out duties pertaining to administration, training, supply, construction, and transportation normally delegated to a command equivalent to a brigade of Infantry. This Department is organized into the following Sections:

- I. Administration.
- II. Personnel.
- III. Operations and Training.
- IV. Supply, Finance, Construction, and Transportation.
- V. Territorial (Staff) Group (Administrative, Inspection, Ordnance, Medical, and Legal).
- VI. Miscellaneous.

SECTION I
Administration

One very important factor that has had little or no attention is the shortage of office personnel in this headquarters. The volume of office business has increased many fold but the number of clerks has remained constant. The Adjutant General, the Administrative Assistant, and all Section Chiefs of the Military Department of the Territory are forced to put in long hours of overtime to keep up with the steadily increasing volume of work. The office of the Finance and Property Officer is sadly in need of a draftsman to handle the construction work of the Hawaii National Guard, which is growing steadily. It is possible that a saving could be effected the Territory if this could be accomplished. This lack of personnel naturally lowers the efficiency of any smoothly running machine and necessitates the doubling and tripling of one's duties. Our Legislature should recognize these facts and larger appropriations should be made for additional clerical help.

Office Administration

There has been a tremendous increase in the volume of correspondence handled in this department. Over 15,000 communications were handled during the past fiscal year. The Personnel and Operations and Training Officers are handling their own typing, filing and detail work which could be handled more efficiently by additional clerical help.

SECTION III

Operations and Training

Captain James T. M. Chang, Infantry, S.S., Chief of Section

Armory Training: The Armory training during the past fiscal year was carried out in a satisfactory manner although the regular training schedule was interrupted by the additional field training of one week as directed by the War Department toward the end of the calendar year. There were more changes during the past fiscal year than any other year since the first World War. Such changes and interruptions are also being mentioned elsewhere in this report. In addition to the normal forty-eight allotted drills, the National Guard Bureau ordered all units to perform additional drills during the months of October, November, December, January and February. Units of the Hawaii National Guard conducted two drills a week to comply with these orders. There were a total of 60 paid drills during the fiscal year.

Annual Armory Inspection: There were no formal Territorial inspections this past fiscal year. The Adjutant General conducted informal inspections of units on the Islands of Hawaii, Maui, and Kauai. The Annual Federal Armory Inspection was conducted by Major J. L. Connolly, Assistant Inspector General, Headquarters Hawaiian Department. He reported all units satisfactory, except Companies "G" and "H" of the 298th Infantry. There were several administrative deficiencies in the units mentioned in the inspection reports. These deficiencies could have been corrected prior to the inspection if Territorial inspections had been made. There should be at least two inspections annually by the Inspector General's Department of the Hawaii National Guard; one prior to the Annual Federal Armory Inspection and the other prior to the Annual Federal Field Training Period. Due to limited travel funds appropriated to this department, such inspections could not be made.

The inspection of the Medical Detachments of the 298th and 299th Infantry were made with the aid of Regular Army Medical Officers. Both regimental medical detachments had very satisfactory inspections. For the first time since the organization of the Medical Detachment, 298th Infantry, this unit was inspected by a Regular Army Medical Officer, and showed a marked improvement over those of past years.

The inspection of the Hawaii National Guard this past year was the most thorough, and, for the first time, the Annual Inspection was conducted by a member of the Hawaiian Department Inspector General's Office.

Annual Ordnance Inspection: The Annual Ordnance Inspection was conducted by Hawaiian Department Small Arms Inspector James H. Brady. As a whole, the inspection was very satisfactory.

Test Mobilization: An "alert" was called on the evening of May 20, 1940, for all units stationed in Honolulu, which included the 298th Infantry (less 3rd Battalion, inactive), Regimental Headquarters and Headquarters Company, 299th Infantry; Band, 299th Infantry; Service Company, 299th Infantry; and the Headquarters Regimental Medical Detachment, 299th Infantry. Within thirty minutes after the orders were received by the regimental commanders, the units were in field uniform and fully equipped for field duty. The 298th Infantry marched from the armory to Irwin Park at the foot of Fort and Allen Streets; the 299th Infantry units of Honolulu marched to the pistol range in Punchbowl Crater. All units were inspected at their assembly areas by members of the Inspector General's Department, State Staff and Regular Army Instructors.

The units of the 299th Infantry stationed in Honolulu were given an additional test mobilization on the evening of August 24, 1939. The units assembled in Iolani Barracks and marched to Pier 27 (Inter-Island Steam Navigation Terminal), where they were inspected by the Inspector General, Territorial (State) Staff, and a creditable showing was made.

On September 30, 1939, all units of the 299th Infantry on the Islands of Maui, Molokai and Hawaii were ordered to conduct test mobilizations on the morning of October 1, 1939. Maui and Hawaii units conducted march problems in connection with the test mobilization. The Hawaii Units, with the aid of a privately-owned airplane, conducted an airplane attack on the march column. The reports received in this office indicated that the morale and equipment of these units were excellent.

Marksmanship: The small-bore marksmanship training was not so active as the year previous, however there was much interest shown in small-bore competition and Companies F, 298th Infantry and A, 299th Infantry were the winners in their respective regiments in the William Randolph Hearst Musketry Competition of 1939. The scores were not so high as in previous years. Company A, 299th Infantry placed 31st and Company F, 298th Infantry placed 38th in the general standing of all National Guard teams which competed throughout the country. Members of both teams were awarded bronze medals donated by Mr. William Randolph Hearst for excellence in collective fire.

In the Chief of the National Guard Bureau's Indoor Company Rifle Team Match, Company F, 299th Infantry placed 29th among the National Guard companies which entered the match, and 1st in the Hawaii National Guard Match.

Due to the fact that there are no caliber .30 rifle ranges on the Islands of Kauai and Molokai, caliber .30 rifle marksmanship practice was not held on these islands. It is hoped that these two islands will each have at least one 200-yard rifle range in the near future.

Hawaii was again favored by the War Department in 1939, when it was authorized to enter two rifle teams (National Guard and Civilian) to compete in the National Matches at Camp Perry, Ohio. The Hawaii National Guard Team was captained by Major Paul B. Porter, 298th Infantry, with Captain Oliver H. Kupau, 298th Infantry, as team coach. The members of the team were selected by competition which was conducted over the national match course for three consecutive days. The members of the team were: Capt. John C. Simeron, 298th Infantry; First Lieut. Frank A. Butterfield, 298th Infantry; First Sergeant William F. Keiek, Headquarters Company, 298th Infantry; Sergeant Ah Kong Seto, Headquarters Company, 1st Battalion, 298th Infantry; Sergeant Thompson K. Kaiapoepoe, Company A, 298th Infantry; Sergeant Halley Ontai, Company A, 298th Infantry; Sergeant Harry H. Wood, Company F, 298th Infantry; Sergeant Robert J. Carter, Headquarters Company, 2nd Battalion, 299th Infantry; Sergeant Harold Lonokapu, Company F, 299th Infantry; Sergeant Frank Roman, Company G, 299th Infantry; Sergeant Gus M. Supe, Jr., Company G, 299th Infantry; and Sergeant William K. Napeahi, Headquarters Company, 2nd Battalion, 299th Infantry. This team placed 19th on the list competing with 127 service, police and civilian teams, and 7th place among all competing National Guard teams. The members of the Civilian Team were also selected by competition which was open to all bona fide citizens of the Territory of Hawaii. This team placed 49th on the list and was composed of the following listed members: Alfred T. Clardy, Honolulu, Team Captain; Gus Anderson, Honolulu; Ngit Chin Goo, Hilo; Ralph W. Miller, Honolulu; Robert O. Glover, Honolulu; James R. Andrews, Honolulu; Henry T. K. Kai, Hilo; David T. W. Yap, Honolulu; James Kealoha, (Senator, First Senatorial District) Hilo; James I. P. Kekahuna, Honolulu; Asusuke Nakamura, Honolulu; Walter A. Todd, Hilo; and James H. Cowan, Hilo. This civilian team made a creditable showing and brought credit to the Territory.

During the past fiscal year, this department sponsored the Annual Territorial Law Enforcement Agencies Pistol Matches at Wailua, Kauai. Sheriff William H. Rice and the Kauai Police Department were hosts to the officials and contestants. The Honolulu Police Department won the new Governor's Trophy for the second consecutive year.

The interest in pistol and rifle marksmanship among civilians has grown tremendously during the past year. Many requests were made to this department to assist in conducting civilian matches. Some were turned down because of the additional training required of the National Guard, and officers could not have been spared at the time.

Target Ranges: There were no new ranges added on the Island of Oahu. On the Island of Hawaii, through aid furnished by the Civilian Gun Club, Hilo was able to build a 1000-yard firing point. The commanding officer of Company H, 299th Infantry, at Honomu, through his untiring efforts and the assistance he received from the plantation, was able to build a machine gun sub-caliber range in Honomu at no cost to the government. On the Island of Maui, through the cooperation of the plantation managers, a new target range was constructed at Lahaina and a 1000-yard range at Paukukalo. Arrangements are being made to transfer lands for the construction of target ranges on Kauai. There is no target range on the Island of Molokai but it is hoped that one will be constructed in the near future. Caliber .22 rifle ranges are available on all islands where National Guard Units are stationed. These ranges are almost in constant use throughout the year by the civilians, schools and National Guard units. There are no combat ranges and miniature anti-aircraft ranges on the outlying islands. It is hoped that funds will be made available by the next legislature for the construction of these ranges.

Reorganization, Disbandment, and Organization of Units: On August 31, 1939, the Howitzer Companies of the 298th and 299th Infantries were disbanded and the personnel of these two units were transferred to form the Anti-tank Platoon of the Headquarters Companies of the two regiments. On September 1, 1939, the Headquarters Companies of the two regiments were reorganized to conform with the new Tables of Organization 7-12 NG, for Infantry Regiments, approved on June 6, 1939, effective September 1, 1939. The new Anti-tank Platoon, Headquarters Company, 299th Infantry, was designated to be stationed in Hilo in place of Company H, 299th Infantry, which was transferred to station in Honomu, Hawaii, by General Orders No. 27, Office of The Adjutant General, dated August 31, 1939. On April 3, 1940, this Department received orders from the National Guard Bureau, War Department, to reorganize and redesignate the units in the Hawaii National Guard to conform with the new Tables of Organization 7-11 NG to 7-18, NG, inclusive. These changes took effect on May 1, 1940. The units of the 298th and 299th Infantries were redesignated as follows:

Headquarters, 298th Infantry as Headquarters, 298th Infantry (Rifle) T/O 7-12 NG.

Headquarters Company, 298th Infantry as Headquarters Company, 298th Infantry (Rifle) T/O 7-12 NG.

The Medical Detachment, 299th Infantry (Rifle) was also reorganized as of May 1, 1940. The Headquarters Regimental Medical Detachment, 299th Infantry, consisting of the Detachment Commander, (a major) and nine enlisted men, was organized with station in Honolulu. The 1st Battalion Section, Medical Detachment, 299th Infantry, consisting of one officer and eight enlisted men, was organized with station in Wailuku, Maui. The 2nd Battalion Section, Medical Detachment, 299th Infantry, organized in Hilo, Hawaii, consisting of two officers (one dental officer belonging to the Headquarters Regimental Medical Detachment, attached) and eight enlisted men. The 3rd Battalion Section was organized on June 26, 1940. The delay in organizing this unit for federal recognition was due to not having a qualified medical officer on the Island of Kauai.

The 298th Infantry (Rifle) not having the 3rd Battalion, under the new Tables of Organization, this regiment lost one medical officer and eight enlisted men, or one battalion medical section.

In the new Tables of Organization for the regiments the battalion headquarters detachments each lost one officer (second lieutenant) and twelve enlisted men, making the authorized strength for each detachment one officer (first lieutenant) and nine enlisted men. The machine gun companies, now known as the Heavy Weapons companies, each gained an additional officer. The reorganized Regimental Headquarters companies with their new anti-tank platoons added, increased their strength from two officers and sixty-five men to three officers and one hundred and fifteen men. The regimental bands, under the new table, are no longer a part of Service Company. The bands are now functioning as separate units, each under the command of a staff officer.

There have been no great changes made to the State (Territorial) Staff and Detachment, although plans are being studied in the National Guard Bureau as to changes, if any are to be made. During the past fiscal year, the State (Territorial) Staff lost three officers; two resigned and one medical officer was transferred to command the Medical Detachment, 299th Infantry. Only one replacement was made by transferring one Infantry officer from the 298th Infantry to the Inspector General's Department, leaving two vacancies to be filled.

Changes in Drill: During the past fiscal year the Army has made many changes not only in organizations but also in drills. The old infantry drill regulations have been discarded and the new infantry drill regulations are now in use. The squads no longer form in two ranks as the new changes form only one line, with the leader at the head. In parade formation, the Regimental Headquarters Company now heads the column of march with Service Company at the rear or the last unit.

Vitalization of Officers: A strict physical examination of all officers was ordered by the National Guard Bureau. Officers not meeting the standard physical requirements were placed on probation or retired for physical disability.

Schools: Three officers were authorized to be sent from Hawaii to the Infantry School at Fort Benning, Georgia. The officers were Captains Joshua D. Hitchcock and Francis H. Kanahale of the 298th Infantry and First Lieutenant George G. Richardson of the 299th Infantry. These officers pursued the Infantry Course for Company Officers in the National Guard and Reserve Officers Corps which began in February and ended in May, 1940. The three officers passed the course with very creditable showing.

Armory schools for officers and noncommissioned officers were conducted as usual throughout the year. Several War Department Training films were shown in these schools, which aided materially in the training.

The West Point Preparatory School at Schofield Barracks was again opened to National Guardsmen and several of the young guardsmen were authorized to attend after taking the special validating mental and physical examinations. Those authorized to attend were: Corporal Berthold A. Moeller, Company D, 298th Infantry; and Privates G. Gordon Cantlay and Bernard C. Dailey, Jr. of Company E, 298th Infantry. Private Cantlay ranked highest among the three students and was designated by the Governor as a candidate from Hawaii to attend the United States Military Academy.

Signal Communications: The National Guard inter-island radio fixed stations were closed for several months during the fiscal year due to insufficient funds and personnel to man the stations. Toward the end of the fiscal year, the stations were again put into operation. Second Lieutenant Henry S. Lau, Signal Corps, T. H., volunteered his services to operate the Honolulu control station. Radio Station WXZF located in the Lihue Armory, Kauai, went on the air for the first time in June, 1940. We now have radio stations located on all of the major islands and also on the Island of Molokai. The signal equipment issued to the communications platoons of Headquarters Companies is slowly being replaced with modern field equipment. It is hoped that federal funds will be made available in this new fiscal year to have all signal equipment modernized for field service.

Field Training: Field training was conducted as follows: State (Territorial) Staff and three enlisted men from the detachment at Honolulu, July 8 to 22, 1939. The Staff Officers spent the entire fifteen days in the Honolulu Armory in the study and revising of plans for volunteer recruiting and selective service. The detachment of three enlisted clerks assisted the staff officers with clerical work. One U. S. Naval Reserve officer, two U. S. Army Reserve officers and one Territorial Militia officer attended this training with the State (Territorial) Staff Officers.

The 299th Infantry field training was conducted on the Islands of Kauai and Maui. The camp on Kauai was held at Wailua from September 9 to 23, 1939. Units which attended training on Kauai were: Headquarters and Headquarters Company, 299th Infantry (less Anti-tank Platoon); Service Company, 299th Infantry (less Band Section); 1 Medical Officer; 3rd Battalion, 299th Infantry (less Company K, 299th Infantry) and a detachment of 1 officer from the State (Territorial) Staff. There were 13 officers and 229 enlisted men present. The camp on Maui was held at Paukukalo camp site. Units which attended this camp were the 1st and 2nd Battalions, 299th Infantry; Anti-tank Platoon, Headquarters Company, 299th Infantry; Medical Department Detachment, 299th Infantry (less 1 officer); Company K, 299th Infantry; and 2 officers and 19 enlisted men from the State (Territorial) Staff and Detachment, a total of 43 officers, 1 warrant officer and 681 enlisted men.

The 298th Infantry camp for the fiscal year 1940 was conducted at Schofield Barracks from June 8 to 28, 1940, inclusive. This camp was ordered by the War Department to be for twenty-one days instead of the usual fifteen days. This camp took place in June 1940, being authorized for the convenience of the 298th Infantry. The officers and men gained more in this training camp and enjoyed a more orderly camp instead of the usual rush and condensed training. There were forty-six officers, one warrant officer and six hundred and nineteen enlisted men present. The outstanding features of this camp were the excellent spirit and morale of both officers and men and the increase in efficiency in the training.

During the past fiscal year when the President of the United States proclaimed a limited emergency, an additional seven days field training period was ordered to be conducted between October 15, 1939 and January 31, 1940. The units of the Hawaii National Guard responded with whole-hearted enthusiasm. The units of Maui, Molokai and Hawaii were in camp then, at Paukukalo, Maui, when the orders were received and they extended their camp for seven additional days. The 298th Infantry returned to Schofield Barracks from November 11 to 19, 1939. Two additional days were extended in the field in lieu of armory training. The units of the 299th Infantry stationed on the islands of Oahu and Kauai conducted their seven days additional field training during week-ends. The units on Oahu conducted problems at Kawaialoa on November 24, 25, and 26; at Kuliouou on December 1, 2, 3; and at National Guard Woods, Schofield Barracks on December 9 and 10, 1939, while the units on Kauai conducted their training in the vicinity of Nawiliwili, Lihue, and Ahukini on November 25 and 26; December 2 and 3; 9 and 10; and on the 17th, 1939.

The State (Territorial) Staff and Detachment conducted their seven days additional field training by continuing their study on Volunteer Recruiting and Selective Service from December 9 to 15, 1939, inclusive.

Inspections: To further the improvement and efficiency in the training of the Hawaii National Guard for immediate mobilization for disaster reliefs, riot and national emergency, additional inspection of units should be conducted. Funds should be provided for permanent services and travel allowances of an inspector. Each unit should be inspected at least once every six months in addition to the annual Federal Inspection.

Changes in Army Regulations for the Induction of the National Guard into the Service of the United States: On March 27, 1940, the War Department revised Army Regulations No. 130-10 which pertains to the induction of National Guard units into the service of the United States. Many changes were made in this revised regulation which altered many of the National Guard Forms to correspond to those of the Regular Army. The personnel records, reports, property, supplies and physical examinations were also changed to meet the requirements of the Regular Army. Army serial numbers were also furnished to units of the Hawaii National Guard which are not to be assigned to individuals until M-day.

Chemical Warfare Service: The Chief of this section was assigned to take over the Chemical Warfare Service of this Department at the end of the fiscal year. The title assigned is Territorial Gas Officer. Being that there were no records or program kept by the former Gas Officer, no further reports can be made at this time.

Conclusion: In conclusion may I take this opportunity to state that the Operations and Training Section, in conjunction with the Intelligence Section, also the Custodianship of Honolulu Armory and Iolani Barracks was administered solely by the present Section Chief, and it is strongly recommended that the Legislature increase the Military Department appropriations to handle added clerical personnel.

Supply, Finance, Transportation and Construction Section

A—GENERAL

The condition of property and property accounts is satisfactory. The work of this section has increased considerably, and recorded transactions show that the past year has been the most active year in the history of the Hawaii National Guard. 1182 property vouchers and 649 money vouchers were handled, an all-time record for this office. The National Guard Bureau provided this office with an additional clerk, paid from Federal funds, effective July 1, 1939, who replaced a Territorial clerk. The increasing volume of work in this section may be readily seen from the following comparative table covering the past ten years:

Fiscal Year	No. of Fiscal Vouchers	Property Vouchers	Shipments from
			Mainland U.S.	Shipments to R.A. Depots
1931	196	279	25	6
1932	232	345	45	11
1933	163	270	24	1
1934	134	203	6	7
1935	272	514	29	4
1936	240	624	35	9
1937	375	822	57	14
1938	257	842	54	5
1939	497	1135	35	25
1940	649	1182	30	26

A total of 452 requisitions were received and acted on during the past fiscal year, an increase of over 50%. Requisitions are required only for expendable items, non-expendable items being furnished automatically without requisition.

This section needs a draftsman, if construction is to continue as a function of this section, and a clerk to handle purchases and territorial fiscal records.

B—FISCAL ACCOUNTS

The past year set a new all-time record for expenditures from Federal funds, being over a third of a million dollars. The Federal expenditures amounted to $373,405.64 and Territorial expenditures to $67,596.75, a ratio of more than 5 to 1. Defense emergency measures, including additional training and new equipment, account for the large increase in the expenditure of Federal funds.

A study of finances reveals that the Territory is losing nearly $50,000 annually through failure of men to attend armory drills and field training, and the failure of some units to maintain authorized strength. While perfect attendance is most difficult, it is believed that the large numbers of enlisted men absenting themselves from drills, and to a lesser extent field training, could be reduced. Each private attending all drills and field training has a potential Federal income of $69.00 per year.

D—TRANSPORTATION

Transportation activities have increased considerably. 89 Transportation Requests and 147 Bills of Lading were issued the past year.

Two additional trucks, G.M.C., 1½ ton cargo bodies, were received during the past fiscal year, bringing our Federal truck fleet to 23 vehicles. Following is a record of truck mileage covered by vehicles of the Hawaii National Guard during the past year:

*Vehicles received during the past fiscal year.

Facilities for additional vehicles will be required during the coming year, as 32 additional vehicles are in transit and over a hundred additional vehicles are included in a program for future delivery. It is also imperative that some provision be made for servicing vehicles, and to this end I urgently recommend that a position of chief motor mechanic be created in this Department with a salary commensurate with the responsibility.

E—CONSTRUCTION

Funds were provided by the National Guard Bureau for construction of four (4) shower and latrine buildings at Paukukalo, Maui, at a cost of $9,600.00, including WPA assistance, and minor repairs to the Hilo (Hawaii), Kuliouou and Punchbowl (Oahu), and Paukukalo and Lahaina (Maui) target ranges.

It is anticipated that the National Guard Bureau will authorize additional construction at the camp site at Paukukalo, Maui, which is not adequate for the 299th Infantry at present.

SECTION V

Territorial Staff Group: Administrative, Inspection, Ordnance, Medical and Legal

Adjutant General's Section—Major E. M. Bolton, A.G.D.
Chief of Section

Armory Training Year—Administration of Inactive Officers and Enlisted men has been performed by this Section during the past fiscal year.

Annual Field Training—The Annual Field Training was performed at the Honolulu Armory from July 8 to 22, 1939, and December 9 to 15. These two periods were devoted to Volunteer Recruiting, Mobilization Plans, and Selective Service.

Inspector General's Section—Major H. L. Best, Infantry
Chief of Section

The activities of this Section for the fiscal year were quite numerous:

(a) All Field Training Camps of all Units were attended and rigid inspections were made and it was evidenced that these inspections are producing results as all units showed marked improvement over previous years.

(b) The semi-audits of the various units of the Hawaii National Guard were made in accordance with existing regulations.

(c) All applications for commissions, also for enrollments at the West Point Preparatory School at Schofield Barracks, were investigated with thoroughness and reports submitted.

(d) Many special investigations were accomplished during the past year.

(e) Training schedules of all units of the Hawaii National Guard were carefully supervised and re-vamped to conform with National Guard Bureau Training objectives.

Ordnance Section—Major Francis Xavier, O.D.

During the past fiscal year there was less Ordnance Material condemned through fair wear and tear than in previous years. Some fire control instruments and miscellaneous ordnance material were sent to the Hawaiian Ordnance Depot for repairs.

The Hawaii National Guard is daily expecting a shipment of the new Girand Automatic Rifle, which will be used for instructive purposes, pending deliveries in sufficient quantity to equip both regiments.

Medical Section—Major F. L. Morong, M.C. Chief of Section

Sanitation and Health—This Section was without the services of a Chief from April 30 to June 30, 1940, owing to the transfer of Major Morong to the 299th Infantry.

All units of the Hawaii National Guard were inspected during their Field Training Camps and a decided improvement was noted both in sanitation and general health of all personnel. Throughout the year smallpox and typhoid inoculations were performed in accordance with National Guard Regulations.

Judge Advocate General's Section—Captain Earl R. McGhee, J.A.G.D. Chief of Section

This Section was also without a Section Chief, Captain Earl R. McGhee having resigned from the Hawaii National Guard on May 29, 1940.

No intensified training of officers in court-martial procedure has been conducted in the past year. It is recommended that a special court be appointed for the 298th Infantry, a special court for each of the battalions of the 299th Infantry, and a general court appointed for the entire National Guard, the personnel of these courts to serve for one year, during which time they would receive instruction from the Judge Advocate and Regular Army instructors.

More time should be devoted to instruction of officers and non-commissioned officers on the subjects of rendering aid to civil authorities and the enforcement of martial law.

It is recommended that the Military Laws of the Territory of Hawaii be re-compiled and published in mimeographed form to be included in the binders with Territorial Military Regulations and that all Territorial Military Regulations cite Territorial or Federal laws and/or regulations upon which such Territorial regulations are based.

Sections 97 and 98 of the Revised Laws of Hawaii 1935 were amended at the 1939 Session so as to authorize pay for Territorial and County employees while on active duty as members of the National Guard, and to provide for the non-forfeiture of their employment or of vacation or other privileges by reason of such duty.

Effort is being made to have Congress amend the Act of June 3, 1916, c. 1934, Sec. 80, 39 Stat. 203, so as to provide that all employees of the Territory and the Counties who are members of the National Guard shall be entitled to leave of absence from their respective duties, without loss of pay, time, or efficiency rating on all days during which they are engaged in training or other duty ordered or authorized by law.

SECTION VI

Miscellaneous—Armory Board

Lt. Col. Walter R. Dunham, President

Major James Ho Yap, Member

Major Dean R. DeMerritt, Recorder

During the past year the Armory Board, through its disbursement of Armory Board funds, has made many decided improvements throughout those Armories which are available for rental purposes.

The funds derived from rentals revert to that Armory from which obtained and are restricted to such ruling by the Territorial Laws. There has occurred many times a lack of sufficient funds to cover needed repairs to the armories and the Armory Board funds have proven a decided asset.

On March 30, 1940, the Hawaii National Guard suffered its first major fire in many years. Papaikou Armory, housing Company E, 299th Infantry, situated at Papaikou, Island of Hawaii and owned by the Onomea Sugar Company, was completely demolished by fire. The Federal loss amounted to $6,898.89 and the loss to the Territory $1,073.96. The greater portion of the ordnance property, consisting of machine guns, rifles, automatic pistols and ammunition (both .30 and .45 caliber) was saved, this property being stored in the concrete storeroom. The Military Department is now striving to collect the money to cover this territorial loss, which was covered by the Territorial Insurance Fund.

The following is a report of the financial standing of the Armory Board funds as of June 30, 1940:

ARMORY BOARD

CONCLUSION

The Hawaii National Guard is still in great need of more liberal appropriations from our local Legislature. All of our armories, in view of recent developments, are in need of more safeguarding measures, more strong rooms should be built, windows barred, improved lighting facilities, and watchmen employed. There are thousands of dollars worth of federal and territorial property which must have every protection against theft, fire, and sabotage. Every Annual Armory Inspection shows present measures to be inadequate. The Regular Army officers conducting these Annual Armory Inspections advocate and make pointed directions that the safeguarding of our armories must be improved, but to date very little assistance has been given in the way of adequate appropriations.

The Hawaii National Guard occupies a unique position in comparison with National Guard units on the Mainland. The States do not have to contend with the delays and great expense of ocean transportation to visit, inspect, and supply their various units, as is necessary in Hawaii. Communications are much better and units are more accessible to one another in the States. Here in Hawaii we have two (2) incomplete regiments of Infantry: the 298th (less the 3rd Bn.) stationed at Honolulu on the Island of Oahu; the 299th Infantry, with stations on Oahu and four (4) of the other major Islands, Regimental Headquarters, Headquarters Company, Band, and Service Company stationed on Oahu; 1st Battalion on Maui; 2nd Battalion on Hawaii; Company K, 3rd Battalion on Molokai; and the balance of the 3rd Battalion (less Company L) on Kauai. There is practically no appropriation or allowance made for travel for officers to inspect or instruct their units on the outside Islands. Transportation by Regular Army planes is prohibited for National Guard officers. The Territory makes a meager provision for commercial transportation, and only through the splendid cooperation of the United States Coast Guard, and to a lesser degree, the U. S. Navy, are these much needed trips of inspection made possible, and then only at extended and long intervals. The outcome of those handicaps lowers the efficiency of the Hawaii National Guard to a great extent and primarily owing to the time and large expense involved.

It is urgently requested that the attention of our next Legislature be called to these facts and a suitable increase in appropriations be made so that our Hawaii National Guard can function with a higher degree of efficiency.

It is recommended that the Regular Army assign an additional Regular Army commissioned instructor for the Guard units on the Island of Kauai as the companies located there are new to the service, thereby needing more instruction and close supervision.

If the present activities to improve the training, provide new and additional equipment and enlarge the military forces of the Nation continue, it will be necessary that the office staff of this Headquarters be increased in order that Hawaii may contribute its share to the National Defense program.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd.) P. M. SMOOT
