WAR VETERANS PREFERRED CITIZENS

(From the New York National Guardsman)

That's what Assemblyman Louis A. Cuvillier, a member of the Committee on Military Affairs of the New York Legislature, and always a friend of the soldier and military service, says in an article published in a recent issue of the New York Telegram, from which we quote:

"I do not agree with Secretary

NEW CHIEF, MILITIA BUREAU

Major General William G. Everson

CHIEF OF THE MILITIA BUREAU

Major General William Graham Everson, appointed Chief of the Militia Bureau on September 20th to succeed Major General Creed C. Hammond, formerly of the Oregon National Guard, was born in Wooster, Ohio, July 1, 1879. He entered the military service as a private, Indiana National Guard, in April 1898; was promoted to corporal the same month, and as such participated in the Spanish-American War until mustered out of the federal service on November 4, 1898. Reentering the Guard he served as private and sergeant major from June 1, 1900, to June 1, 1903.

In May, 1905, he was commissioned chaplain, first lieutenant, National Guard of Indiana, and promoted to captain of infantry in May, 1909. In August, 1914, he was commissioned major, quartermaster corps, and transferred to the infantry in May, 1916.

On May 11, 1917, he was ordered to active duty as major, infantry, Officers' Reserve Corps, and promoted to lieutenant colonel on October 25, 1918. He remained on active duty until April 29, 1919. On June 5, 1919, he was reverted to his original rank as major, infantry, Officers' Reserve Corps, and was promoted to colonel, August 15, 1919. On November 24, 1922, he was promoted to brigadier general, Indiana National Guard, and on September 30, 1924, was commissioned brigadier general, Officers' Reserve Corps. As Chief of the Militia Bureau he will have the rank of major general.

General Everson saw service with the American Expeditionary Force in Europe, and after the

The Company is again working on the Pistol Range and we look forward to the fact, that when the season is over that we will have fired almost every man in the outfit. Number of qualified will be announced in a future issue of the Guardsman, so look out.

NEWS NOTES COMPANY "E", 298th INF. 298th INFANTRY

The Company threw a big Chop Sui Dinner on Victory Day after the Parade. Everybody seemed to know we were going to have this dinner, for we had the largest turnout in the regiment and the attendance at dinner was very good, in fact we almost got in the "Excellent" column.

The Marksmanship badges were handed out by Major Gordon C. Ross, the commanding officer of the Second Battalion.

Some promotions in the company were announced by Lieut. McEl-downey, whose only regret seemed to be that everybody couldn't be Sergeants and Corporals.

A handsomely engraved saber was presented to Major, formerly Captain Farrant L. Turner. The presentation speech was made by Sergeant Manasse K. Makekau. Major Turner expressed his appreciation of the gift and in turn donated Fifty Dollars for a perpetual Trophy for the company he commanded for over five years.

NEWS NOTES HEADQUARTERS COMPANY 2nd Battalion, 298th Infantry Honolulu, T. H.

Staff Sergeant Everette W. Aufrey, the big butter and yegg man from Battalion Headquarters took on another stack. Sergeant Aufrey has established himself as a permanent fixture in the Battalion.

Sergeant Kala will soon have that supply room looking like a million dollars. More power to you, Kala.

Second Lieutenant Howard B. Benner, recently commissioned from Company "E", has been assigned to this company for duty as Battalion Communications officers. Hope you like the new Co., Lieutenant!

1st Lieut. Joseph I. deVille has been transferred to Company "C", 298th Infantry. Funny how the First Battalion gets all its officers

A Laugh or Two

Pottering about the graves one day, the sexton of a church saw a widow, a member of the parish, crossing the church-yard. Unknown to her, he follow her to the grave of her late husband, where he had been laid but a few months before.

The woman was carrying a package of grass seed and a watering pot. She planted the grass seed on the grave and was watering it from the pot, when the sexton came out and asked her:

"What are you doing there?"
"I'm planting some grass seed on my husband's grave," she replied.

"What's the use of watering it?" said the sexton. "It will get water enough when the rain comes."

"That may be, said the widow. "But when my husband died last winter he made me promise that I would not marry again until the grass grew on his grave--and I had a good offer last night."

A bunch of veterans of the Great War were "pulling the long bow" about the parts they had played in the fighting. "I'm not saying," remarked one of them, "that Foch and Pershing and Haig didn't help to win the war, but I had something to do with it myself."

"You remember that day at Chateau Thierry, just before the big push? Well, that morning, just before the show started, Pershing rode up to the Colonel of my regiment, and asked him: 'Is Sergeant Bignoise around?' The Colonel said, 'Sorry, General, but I had to send him on an important errand.' Pershing didn't say anything, but looked disappointed. He came back in about half an hour, and asked for me again, but I hadn't got back. When he came the third time, the Colonel said to him, 'There's the sergeant now, talking to that brigadier general. Shall I send for him, general?'"

"No," said Pershing, "I just wanted to be sure that he was around. Now we can let the battle start."

from the Second Battalion. We must have some things they need over there. We always did admit that this was the best Battalion.

2nd Lieut. "Bill Poka has been assigned as Battalion Adjutant. Snap, precision and smartness, that's Bill all over.

Here comes about fourteen inspections, one after another. However, you just know we will get by with flying colors.

See you in the next issue!

A Private stood on the corner
While girls went tripping by,
And every time one looked his way
He smiled and winked his eye:
But not one stopped to cheer him,
And he was out of luck;
For women near an Army post,
All learn to pass the buck!

There was company for dinner, and the man of the house tried to make himself agreeable by telling a funny story.

He had hardly finished when his little son piped out:
"Oh, papa, tell the other one!"

WAR VETERANS

of War Good to the effect that the law would not be extended granting 'decorations to distinguished soldiers for heroic and meritorious service in the World War' and in his statement to the effect 'that it is human to magnify service after the lapse of a period of years.'

Let me say that any man who donned the uniform of the army or navy during the World War or any other war not only deserves a 'decoration' at the hands of his country but that he is entitled to more.

In fact, he is a preferred stockholder in the government of his country and preferred to all other citizens, because without his services the form of the government he is giving his very life for may perish from the earth, and the non-combative citizens at home, enjoying freedom, security, life and wealth, may become a subject race, their form of government destroyed, their freedom, security, life and wealth confiscated by the victorious nation and these citizens too proud to fight may become slaves.

So the soldier and sailor should have the preferred lien on the taxpayers' money in preference to all others.

For that reason the Legislature asks the people to vote favorably this fall on the concurrent resolution I had passed to amend the State Constitution to give preference and promotion to all disabled veterans of all wars in Civil Service appointment to civil office in the State."

SALUTING

Extract from AR 600-25, June 29, 1928, as amended by Circular No. 59, War Department, December 31, 1928.

SUBJECT: SALUTING

5. Between officers and enlisted men.—Out of doors.
- (1) Salutes will be exchanged between officers and enlisted men every occasion of their meeting, passing near, or being addressed except when either the officer or enlisted man is—
 - (a) Actively participating in a game.
 - (b) At mess.
 - (c) In a public conveyance.
 - (d) At an assembly for purposes of social diversion or amusement.
 - (e) Leading an animal or standing "to horse."
 - (f) The driver of a vehicle in motion, or of an animal-drawn vehicle not in motion, if both hands are required to control the animals attached thereto.
 - (2) Except as prescribed in Training Regulations—
 - (a) An enlisted man in a military formation will not salute unless he is in command thereof.
 - (b) An officer in a military formation will not be saluted unless he is in command thereof.
 - (3) Individual enlisted men, armed or unarmed, when in a vehicle, will use the hand salute.
 - (4) An enlisted man, if seated, except when in a vehicle, will rise upon the approach of an officer, face toward him, stand at "attention," and salute. If the officer remains in immediate vicinity the salute need not be repeated. Soldiers actually at work will not cease work to salute an officer unless addressed by him.
- b. Indoors.
- (1) Salutes are not ordinarily exchanged between officers and enlisted men except when addressing each other. An enlisted man posted as sentinel will render the salute as prescribed in TR 135-15.
 - (2) When an officer enters a room or tent, except as indicated in (2) and (4) below, in which there is an enlisted man the latter will stand at "attention" and uncover, if not under arms, until the officer indicates otherwise, or leaves the room. When there are two or more enlisted men in the room or tent the first one who observes the entrance of the officer will command "attention," when all will rise, uncover, if not under arms, and remain standing at "attention" until the officer directs otherwise, or leaves the room.
 - (3) When an officer enters a room or tent used as an office or work shop those at work therein are not required to cease work unless addressed by him. In the transaction of ordinary business between an officer and an enlisted man, seated at work, it is not necessary that the latter rise.
 - (4) When an officer enters a mess hall or tent enlisted men seated at meals will refrain from eating and remain seated at "attention" until the officers directs otherwise, or leave the room.
- c. When an enlisted man enters a room where an officer is present he will uncover, if not under arms.
- d. Before addressing an officer, an enlisted man will make the prescribed salute. He will also salute upon the termination of an interview with, or upon leaving, an officer.
- e. An enlisted man in ranks, if not at "attention," will assume the position of "attention" when directly addressed by an officer.
6. Manner of saluting.—All persons in military service not in formation salute in the following manner:
- a. With arms in hand, the salute prescribed for that arm.
 - b. With arms in hand, the hand salute.
 - c. Troops under arms will salute as prescribed in Training Regulation.
 - d. When several officers in company are saluted, all will return it.
 - e. Except in the field under campaign or simulated campaign conditions a mounted officer or soldier will dismount before addressing a superior officer not mounted.
 - f. At formations a command does not change position in order to face toward the music when saluting the national anthem, but remains

RECENT APPOINTMENTS

2nd Lt. Homer Disney Swick
299th Infantry

2nd Licut. Homer Disney Swick, 299th Infantry, was born in Lowry City, Missouri, April 9, 1898 and attended the Queen Anne High School and Ross Seminary for 3 years. Enlisted November 9, 1916, for the 17th U. S. Cavalry at Schofield Barracks. Honorably discharged December 12, 1920, Enlisted July 11, 1928, for Medical Department Detachment, 299th Infantry. Appointed Sergeant October 3, 1928. Private September 11, 1929. Honorably discharged November 12, 1929, to accept a commission. Appointed Second Lieutenant of Infantry, November 13, 1929, and assigned to Headquarters Company 299th Infantry, at Hilo, Hawaii.

One of the big league managers at the Southern training camp of the team one spring day, putting his "rookies" through fielding practice, when a big raw-boned Southerner came to him and asked for a chance.

"I'm a very good outfielder," he told the manager. "'Deed, I was the best fielder on my home team last season."

The manager rather liked his looks, and said to him:

"Well, I'm in need of a good outfielder right now. Get out there in left field and I'll bat some balls to you, and see how good you are."

The 'rookie' hesitated a moment. Then he said, "Say, mister, where is left field in this here ball park?"

"I don't know what to do," said one young man to another. "I'm in love with a charming girl, young, intelligent and beautiful, but she is very poor. There is another girl whom I don't love, but she has lots of money. I think either one might accept me if I proposed. What would you advise me to do?"

"I would say," his friend replied, in position, all members of the command facing toward their original front.

At assemblies in theatres, assembly halls, stadiums, etc., where, in order to face toward the music, in saluting the national anthem, it is necessary for individuals to face about or to flank, officers and enlisted men will face toward their original front.

g. Officers and enlisted men when not in uniform render the salute to the national anthem or to a color (standard) by standing at "attention", uncovered, holding the headdress, if any, over the left breast; when in uniform, indoors and uncovered, they salute the national anthem by standing at "attention". On other occasions the hand salute is considered appropriate for all men of a military status in civilian dress.

h. On nonmilitary occasions when civilians participate in a manner determined by some established custom or observe the occasion in some particular way, a military person present, in uniform, should conform to the custom of civilians present.

NOTES—

1. Salutes are exchanged outside the post the same as in the post.
2. No distinction is made between uniform and civilian clothes as regards saluting.
3. Everyone should be able to recognize at least all persons above him in the chain of command at the post when the latter are in civilian clothes, as for example, if belonging to a company, his company, battalion, regimental, brigade and division commanders.

GUS SPROAT AND JORDAN WILL MIX IN 298TH BOXING MATCH

"Gus" Sproat, Regimental Sergeant Major of the 298th Infantry, will fight the Main Event at the Honolulu Stadium on November 30, 1929. The bout is scheduled for 8 rounds and should be a thriller. Both men hold decisions over Domingo of Molokai and were matched several months ago in a Card, but owing to injuries to his eye, Sproat was not allowed to fight.

The semi-final will be a six-round go between Earle Forse, Navy Fleet champion and "Kid Sanico" popular Filipino boxer. A special event of six rounds, between Anthony Sabella and "The Kohala Lion" should be a great bout.

Two Guardsmen will perform in the preliminaries. Sergeant Edward Chung of Howitzer Company, 298th Infantry, is matched against Santos Ann, at 130 pounds. Henry Borelis, Company "H", 298th Infantry, will appear against Santiago Alfafara in the curtain-raiser. The other preliminary bouts are:

Harry Cho vs. Jack Fomin, 122lb
K.O. Kuratsu vs. W. Cho, 112lb
Kid Williams vs. Jerry Shelton, 145lb.

The card has been arranged by Major Gordon C. Ross, 298th Infantry, for the E & R, 298th Infantry. The proceeds are to go to this fund for the promotion of athletic activities within the regiment.

PERSONALS

Colonel P. M. Smoot, The Adjutant General has been confined to Tripler General Hospital since November 6th. He is reported to be slowly improving.

Captain Robert B. Faus, Medical Corps, 298th Infantry, is making the trip to Oregon with the University of Hawaii Team.

The Adjutant General has announced the following changes in the Military Department, Territory of Hawaii, effective on November 1st, 1929.

Major Frank F. Riess, Q.M. Corps, to be Assistant Adjutant General, vice Major Edward M. Bolton, A.G.D.;

1st Lieut. Joseph I. deVille, 298th Infantry, to be Intelligence, Plans and Training Officer vice Captain Hamilton Merrill, recently removed to Hilo, Hawaii.

1st Lieutenant James T. M. Chang, 298th Infantry, to be Personnel Officer, vice 1st Lt. Joseph I. deVille, reassigned. Captain Xavier will continue in his duties as Supply Officer.

The 298th Infantry marched in the Victory Day Parade in Honolulu, under command of Colonel Wilhelm A. Andersen, 298th Infantry, the regimental commander.

1st Lieutenant Robert R. McEl-downey, 298th Infantry, has been ordered up for examination for the grade of Captain, Infantry, on November 19, 1929.

Major William B. Stoddard and Captain Charles W. Bowman, Jr., both of the 299th Infantry, Hilo, Hawaii, were recent visitors in Honolulu. Together with Captain Samuel K. Mookini, 299th Infantry, Lahaina, Maui, they attended a meeting of the Advisory Council of the Hawaii National Guard. The proceedings of the Board will probably be announced in the near future.

Gentlemen,

Allow me to thank you very much for sending this very interesting book "All Quiet on the Western Front" to me a short while ago, which I have passed along to a few of my friends, which accounts for the delay in returning it to you.

I enjoyed it so much and it was certainly worth while my trouble to go after it—in fact I couldn't get it around here.

It deserves all that it has been said about it, and hope all the Guard Officers will avail themselves by getting hold of it.

It was so true to life that it brought me back to those terrible days of 1918.

Yours sincerely,

Capt. Wm. H. E. Anderson

TRAINING

We are now in the midst of Our Armory Training Year. This is about the time that everything is going along fairly well and most of us sit back and pat ourselves on the back for what we have accomplished.

The lot of the National Guard Officer is a hard one, especially of the Company Commanders and unless a company is organized and run efficiently a lot of additional work will result. Just about this time of the year is a good opportunity to stop and analyze our units and to make "An Estimate of The Training Situation". Are we accomplishing our mission? Are we taking advantage of all our training facilities, such as Schools, Target Practice, Overnight Camps, Routine Practical Instructions with the Regular Army? Are we making proper tests and are we getting proper supervision?

If we are not getting these things, or are not accomplishing the desired results, it is time for a little change in our methods and manner of instruction.

RADIO SET SCR-131
RECOMMENDED TO REPLACE
EXISTING RADIO EQUIPMENT
(From the Infantry Journal for November, 1929)

An experimental radio transmitter and receiver, type SCR-131, having demonstrated superiority over our present radio equipment in an extended test at the Infantry School, has been recommended for adoption as standard to replace radio sets, SCR-77-B and SCR-79-A in both Infantry regimental and brigade sets.

The SCR-131 set is a loop, continuous wave, telegraph receiving and transmitting set. It has a frequent band of 3,960 to 4,360 kilocycles. This range gives a lap on the lower end of 40 kilocycles with the Air corps' new set, thus allowing direct communication between Infantry observation plane. The set is capable of operating over a maximum distance of five miles and can be transported by two men. It can be easily and quickly erected for operation. Power for the transmitter tube and plate circuit is obtained from a hand generator.

An extended test of 4 SCR-131 radio sets was made jointly by the Academic Department, Infantry School, and the Headquarters Company, 29th Infantry, under the supervision of the Infantry Board. The tests showed that the experimental sets were remarkably sturdy, simple and dependable, and better suited to combat use than the present standard type. The Operators very quickly learned to use these sets and, once having used them, were relectant to go back to our present standard sets. During the tests several defects were found, but all were believed easy of correction.

Second Lieutenants William C. Poka and Henry J. Reinhardt, 298th Infantry, have been ordered up for examination for promotion to the grade of 1st Lieutenants of Infantry.

299th Infantry	83.72	74.00	79.00
HAWAII NATIONAL GUARD	77.00	75.54	78.13

The average of 83.72% attained by the 299th Infantry, is the highest ever attained by either regiment since their organization. The previous Regimental Record was also held by the 299th Infantry, which was 79.00% made in September, 1928, one year ago. That the regiment attained this high average speaks well for the efficiency of the officers and loyalty of the enlisted men enrolled in it.

ILLINOIS COLONEL ASSIGNED TO MILITIA BUREAU

The War Department has issued orders placing Colonel Albert Ludlum Culbertson, 130th Infantry, Illinois National Guard, on duty in the Militia Bureau, under provisions of Section 81, National Defense Act, as amended, vice Lieut. Col. Raymond M. Cheseldine, Ohio National Guard, whose tour of duty expired July 1, 1929. Colonel Culbertson will arrive in Washington from his home in Delavan, Illinois, and enter on his new duties on or about November 14th.

Colonel Culbertson was born at Delavan, Illinois, June 1, 1884, and enlisted in the Illinois National Guard June 18, 1904, 1st Lieutenant January 1, 1912, and Captain November 25, 1913. He served during the World War as a Captain and Major in command of the 123rd Machine Gun Battalion, 33rd Division, in France.

On December 6, 1921, he was commissioned Major and assigned to the 130th Infantry, Illinois National Guard, and was promoted to Colonel May 24, 1922. In 1922 and 1923 he served on the War Department General Staff and in 1926 attended the Army War College. In 1927 he attended the National Guard and Reserve Officers course at the Command and General Staff School and graduated near the head of a class of 32 officers.

The National Guard is especially fortunate in having a representative of Colonel Culbertson's experience and ability in the Militia Bureau. His long service in the National Guard in peace and war,

JUST A FLOWER WHILE YOU'RE HERE

It's a long trail from "Private Mike Everson" of Spanish War days to Chief of the Militia Bureau in 1929. Please don't count the years—think of the difference in responsibility.

Many National Guard publications reach my desk. They come with a page of fun, a message from the "Higher-Up" or a kick from some "A.W.O.L."; a story of achievement and of ambition - yep, and a few pictures thrown in for good luck. But, who does all this work?

I want to say a few words of appreciation, hang a flower on him or them. You are rendering a splendid service in everlasting boosting for a more efficient National Guard. Whatever it may cost you in time and effort, please remember that your work is recognized and appreciated. Each publication is highly valued by me.

Maryland, September	62.38%
HAWAII, September	83.72%

and his previous details in Washington have particularly qualified him for the duties ahead of him.

"OUR ARMY" CONTAINS INTERESTING ACCOUNTS OF HAWAII NATIONAL GUARD

The November Issue of "Our Army" contains an interesting account of the Hawaii National Guard and the very unusual conditions existing here. The facts recorded have come principally from the Annual Report of the Adjutant General of the Territory, and the "Hawaii Guardsman" which published the original of the picture of Compay "C", 298th Infantry, the All-Chinese Company of the Hawaii National Guard.

The story is written by Lieut. Colonel Raymond M. Cheseldine, Quartermaster Corps, who is on duty with the Militia Bureau of the War Department in Washington, D. C.
