

Polo Cups Are Given By Governor and Gen. Johnson

June 9, 1916

With the advent of a National Guard polo team into the "big league" considerable interest is being displayed in the game in local guard circles and it is probable that the games of tomorrow and Monday will call out a large attendance among the citizen soldiers.

Many valuable trophies are being offered for this tournament, not the least of which is the Commander-in-Chief's cup, which will go to the victorious team in the contest of tomorrow afternoon between the All-Army four and the N. G. H. four. There are also four individual cups which will go to the members of the winning team.

The former cup is presented by Governor Pinkham and the latter four by Brig-gen. Samuel I. Johnson, both of whom are enthusiastic polo fans and desirous of seeing a large turnout of National Guard officers, carrying the National Guard colors of orange and black.

The cups shown above were made by Wall & Dougherty, jewelers, and are on display in the windows of McInerney's shoe store.
