

GUARD SMASHERS NAME LINE UP

Third Infantry Send Crackerjack Team To Oppose Army Team In Polo Match

Game 6

The four stick swingers who will represent the Third Infantry, N. G. H., in the polo match against the regular army next Saturday, are due from the Valley Island Thursday morning. This schedule will give them two days of practise on the new field at Kapiolani Park, with a chance to work both themselves and their ponies before the big game.

The Maui ponies, 16 in number, arrived Saturday night in the Claudine, and were at once taken to the polo stables at the park. Included in the string are some new mounts, which look very classy, and which should strengthen the Guard lineup to some extent.

The Third Infantry players have announced their lineup, a letter from Maj. F. F. Baldwin, team captain, received yesterday morning, giving the players and positions as follows:

No. 1, Capt. A. W. Collins; No. 2, Pvt. S. A. Baldwin; No. 3, Maj. F. F. Baldwin; back, Captain Harold W. Rice.

Each player is well mounted, with regard to his weight and position on the team. The distribution of mounts, as announced by Maj. Baldwin, is as follows:

Capt. Collins: Charlie Lucas, Little Arthur, Minah Bird and Hanalei.

S. A. Baldwin: Mutt, Bees Wing, Kazoike and Parlor Maid.

Maj. F. F. Baldwin: Sunshine, Easter-tide Jr., Coquette and Dan.

Capt. H. W. Rice: Dandy, Boy Blue, Peter and Waialeale.

Saturday night, after the match, there will be a get-together session between the players of both teams, and their friends. Officers of the National Guard are planning a number of theater parties for the Bijou, which will be polo headquarters for the early part of the evening. Members of both teams will be entertained and plans for future meeting on the polo field between the militia and regular army teams arranged.

Local guardsmen who attend the match Saturday afternoon are requested to decorate their machines with the Third Infantry colors, orange and black.
