

MORE EXAMS. FOR NAVAL MILITIA MEN ON TONIGHT

June 30

Arms Practise Monday Night in Preparation for Range Work Planned for Next August

Examinations of all members of the Naval Militia of Hawaii who have not yet passed in the subjects comprised under the head of "What Every Man Aboard Ship Should Know" and "What Every Ordinary Seaman Should Know," also "What Men in the Seaman's Branch Should Know," will be held this evening.

Tests will also be given tonight in the seamanship examination, subjects S-1 to S-8.

At 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon there will be a boat drill under oars, with the two new 30-foot naval cutters. Ensign W. H. Stroud will be in command of one cutter and Ensign W. T. Tay of the other.

All examination papers will be marked Sunday morning by the board of Naval Militia officers, and all men rated according to the prescribed complement will be given acting appointments as petty officers. About 26 men will be given appointments to fill vacancies.

Monday evening all officers, petty officers and gunners' mates, also men desiring to perfect themselves in ordnance and other members desiring the same training are asked to meet at 7:30 at the armory under arms for sight drill, sight setting exercises, loading, aiming, firing and other gallery practise, preliminary to going on the range for small arms training practise early in August.

Regular drill on Tuesday, July 4, will be omitted, as the day is the national holiday.

Monday the Naval Militia's cutters will be towed to Pearl Harbor by the U. S. naval tug Navajo, to be used the next day by the crews of the U. S. S. Alert and the Navajo in the cutter race at the regatta there July 4.
