

AD CLUB TO HEAR COL. JOHNSON ON NATIONAL GUARD

Members of the Ad Club are sharpening their appetites for the next regular luncheon of the club, which will occur Wednesday, September 8 at the Young Hotel.

A somber note will be given to the luncheon when Lient. Comdr. J. A. Furer, U. S. N., speaks on the F-4; but the gloom will be dispersed when Col. Samuel Johnson, adjutant general of the National Guard of Hawaii, uncorks a speech in which he will attempt to prove that after all the Ad Club is merely a company of the National Guard under a unique title.

The music committee has arranged a program which it declares will make the members forget to eat, but Col. Johnson has his doubts on the matter.

Some of the meetings in the near future will feature such topics as Sugar Day, City Finance Day, Pineapple Day, Mercantile Marine Day, Functions of an Advertising Agency, Functions of Accountancy in Business, Hawaiian Securities, Opportunities for Japanese Business, Mercantile Credits and Collections, Y. M. C. A. Day, Hawaii Legends and a Ladies' night.
