

Assistant AG, Army, appointed

Col. John R. D'Araujo, Jr., 44, was appointed by Maj. Gen. Alexis T. Lum, State Adjutant General, with the concurrence of Governor John Waihee, as the Assistant Adjutant General, Army, effective June 1, 1987. Col. D'Araujo's last assignment was as the Chief, Organization and Training Division, National Guard Bureau, Pentagon, Washington, D.C.

Col. D'Araujo was born in Hilo, Hawaii, attended St. Joseph High School, University of Hawaii, Hilo, and State University of New York.

His military career started when he enlisted in the Hawaii Army National Guard in May 1960. Col. D'Araujo was commissioned a second lieutenant in the Guard on June 28, 1963, through the Officer Candidate School, State of Hawaii Military Academy. He served in numerous positions in the Hawaii Army National Guard, to include the 299th Infantry, 298th Artillery Group Air Defense Nike Hercules, 297th Supply and Service Battalion, 29th Infantry Brigade, and Command and Control Group A. After completing the Army War College in 1981, he served as the U.S. Property and Fiscal officer for the Guam National Guard. In 1983 Col. D'Araujo was assigned to the National Guard Bureau in Washington, D.C. as the Chief of the Mobilization and Readiness Division.

His military service spans over 26 years to include a tour in Vietnam. He has earned the Bronze Star, Meritorious Service Medal with First Oak Leaf Cluster, Army Achievement Medal, Vietnam Cross of Gallantry with Palm, and several other awards.

He and his wife Eileen have two daughters—Samantha and Cathleen.

Lum appointed TAG

Maj. Gen. Alexis T. Lum has been appointed by Governor John Waihee as State Adjutant General, Director of the State Department of Defense and a member of the Governor's cabinet, Commander of the Hawaii Air and Army National Guard, and Director of State Civil Defense.

The Senate confirmation hearing was held on April 22 at the State Capitol. Twenty-one individuals testified in support of General Lum at the hearing conducted by the Senate Committee on Military and Civil Defense, chaired by Senator Jimmy Wong.

General Lum was confirmed by the full State Senate, April 27, for a four-year term. He has served as the state adjutant general since March 31, 1983, when appointed by then-Governor George R. Ariyoshi.

General Lum, 59, was federally recognized as a Major General on October 26, 1983. His military service began on November 17, 1945, as an enlisted man in the U.S. Army. He attained the rank of Sergeant before separating from active service on May 25, 1947.

On June 1, 1950, General Lum was commissioned a Second Lieutenant of Infantry in the U.S. Army Reserve through the University of Hawaii ROTC program. He served on active duty from April 26, 1951 to November 28, 1952 as a USAR officer and was promoted to First Lieutenant on June 6, 1952.

General Lum joined the Hawaii Army National Guard in May 1953 and was appointed platoon leader in the Heavy Motor Company, 298th Regimental Combat Team. He served as Commander, Co. A, 1/299 Infantry and Commander, Co. A, 277th Engineer Battalion. On May 20, 1960, he was promoted to Captain.

He transferred to Headquarters, Headquarters Company, 29th Infantry Brigade (HHC, 29th Inf Bde) as Engineer Officer on March 31, 1964 and was promoted to Major on June 30, 1964.

Maj. Gen. Alexis T. Lum

He was ordered to active duty on May 13, 1968 with the 29th Inf Bde and served in Vietnam as Executive Officer, 31st Engineer Battalion. He was promoted to Lieutenant Colonel, Army of the United States, on August 15, 1969.

General Lum was assigned to HHC, 298th Field Depot on April 1, 1970; was promoted to Colonel on February 23, 1973; and assumed command of the unit on February 1, 1976. On June 1, 1976, he became Commander, Headquarters Installation Command, upon reorganization of the 298th Field Depot.

He was assigned as Assistant Adjutant General, Army/Commander, Hawaii Army National Guard on January 16, 1980 and federally recognized as a Brigadier General on March 10, 1981.

General Lum's awards and decorations include the Legion of Merit, Bronze Star Medal, Meritorious Service Medal and the Army Commendation Medal.

General Lum is married to the former Leimomi Mookini of Kohala, Hawaii. They have three children: Angela, Alexia, and Oliver.

DoD Federal Awards

Federal Week in Hawaii culminated at the 31st Annual Federal Awards Luncheon held on April 17, 1987, at the Hilton Hawaiian Village's Coral Ballroom. The event was organized by the Honolulu Pacific Federal Executive Board to focus on the achievements, dedication, and services of Federal personnel.

The Hawaii State Department of Defense (DoD) recognized Lt. Col. Norman C. Ault, Jr.; Andretta S.M. Choy; and Capt. Michael C.K. Wong for their outstanding contributions to the success of the defense mission.

Nominated for Federal Manager of the Year was Lt. Col. Norman Ault, commander of the 154th Consolidated Aircraft Maintenance Squadron, Hawaii Air National Guard. Col. Ault performed consistently, fully satisfying all required operational flying support and the active air defense commitment. Through his leadership and positive motivation, his personnel achieved high levels of efficiency and productivity.

Nominated for Federal Employee of the Year was Andretta Choy of the U.S. Property & Fiscal Office. "Andy" has managed approximately $102 million worth of military equipment for the Hawaii Army National Guard (HIARNG) virtually error free. By applying her in-depth knowledge of equipment and her expertise with automated systems, she was able to achieve the maximum equipment readiness possible for HIARNG. She accomplished this during a major reorganization of HIARNG and a changeover of inexperienced personnel in her section.

Nominated for the Military Officer of the Year was Capt. Michael Wong, Headquarters, State Area Command, HIARNG. Capt. Wong, the education officer for HIARNG, manages a complex civilian education program for over 3,600 soldiers on five islands. He single-handedly provides the services of a staff, to include supporting both federal and state programs. Capt. Wong has had an impact on policy at the national level and has been cited for his contributions to interservice cooperation.

Wong

The DoD salutes all the nominees and wishes them continued success in maintaining their high levels of service.

Maj. Gen. Alexis T. Lum
The State Adjutant General

The department has experienced many significant changes, but the Army and Air National Guard still have a long way to go to complete required actions. I know many of you have been required to put in considerable extra effort to make the planned transitions occur. I am concerned, however, that everyone understands our major transitions are not completed and I don't want commanders, leaders and NCO's to lose their momentum or to become frustrated by the extra work required.

For the Army Guard, the reorganization of the 29th Infantry Brigade (Separate) and the formation of the 193rd Attack Helicopter Battalion both have progressed well within the milestones established. However, we have new equipment coming which necessitates receipt and training. We are short of troops to fill the increased spaces in the Brigade and its Support Battalion. We also have a significant requirement for new MOS training. These are some of the major issues of reorganization.

But the Army Guard still has other on-going issues that cannot be ignored. I am concerned that I have seen a lack of emphasis on individual and unit level maintenance training and supervision. I want to see the NCO's take up the challenge of improving maintenance practices. You, the NCO's, are there with the troops and can best ensure that our equipment is being properly maintained and accounted.

The major project for the Hawaii Air National Guard is still the conversion of the 154th Composite Group from the F-4 to the F-15 Eagles. Aircrews and maintenance personnel are undergoing stepped up training to be operationally ready by year's end. The 201st Combat Communications Group continues its readiness and deployment training by conducting field exercises. The Air Guard has a full range of critical air defense operational issues to undertake within milestones.

Even with the Air Guard's busy schedule, I must remind commanders, leaders and NCO's to pay attention to those routine matters of business that are essential to keep their units operational. This means taking care of the people issues—not only on the job, but also by preparing families for the potential problems that will be created by mobilization and deployment. As with the Army Guard, I expect the NCO's of the Air Guard to closely supervise and monitor maintenance and repair work. You NCO's are essential to the success of all operations whether it be flying, radar and electronic surveillance of the skies or communications, and I expect you to accept your responsibilities.

State Civil Defense is gearing up for the hurricane season and has issued reminders to the public on what each citizen can do to prepare himself should Hawaii be affected. The weather service and other sources of the scientific community indicate that conditions in the Pacific Ocean are developing that would indicate there is the possibility of another "El Nino" phenomenon occurring this year. This means that ocean currents and temperatures similar to those experienced in 1972 could happen again this year, which would increase the potential of hurricanes developing in our area. If Hawaii is affected, not only State Civil Defense but also the Hawaii National Guard must be prepared.

However, we in the National Guard of the United States understand and appreciate preparedness and readiness for this has been the chartered responsibility and duty of the "Guard" well before our nation was created. Last year was the 350th anniversary of the National Guard, "the Militia," which had its beginnings with the early settlers of our great nation.

This year we celebrate the bicentennial of the United States Constitution, a document establishing a way of life that we Americans will preserve at all cost. Our Constitution, and our resolve to defend it, is the singular most important force impacting upon the world today. To me the reason for this is that we are the only country in the world that swears allegiance to a way of life. For those of us who have taken the oath of service, we have sworn to "support and defend the Constitution of the United States . . .". The military services of other nations swear their allegiance to a king, emperor, or other sovereign.

It is the Constitution of our great nation that guarantees all citizens the rights and obligations which are essences of being an American. I encourage each of you to become better citizens, study and understand our national heritage, and rededicate yourselves, your families, and your fellow Guard members to the spirit of the Constitution.

Another area that I want to stress and expect full support from all officers and NCO's is the critical issue of SAFETY. This year during annual training across the Nation, the Army National Guard has suffered thirteen fatalities. All of these valuable lives were lost in accidents that were caused by "human error." Human error in my mind is another way of saying that someone did something "dumb."

One example was a soldier who was run over by a tracked vehicle at night in a bivouac area. In this accident, there are two areas which indicate that leaders were not paying attention to detail and established safety practices. First: the tracked vehicle was moved without a ground guide in a bivouac area at night; and second: the troops were sleeping in and around the vehicles. Without all the details, it appears that the NCO's were not taking care of their troops and "Sergeants' Business" in general and, worst of all, unit officers were not properly supervising and paying attention to safety practices.

Accidents don't just happen—they are usually caused because someone did something dumb or failed to do something he was supposed to do. We cannot tolerate an irresponsible attitude toward safety by anyone in the Hawaii National Guard. I expect every commander, leader, NCO and enlisted member in the Hawaii National Guard to accept his or her full responsibility for safety at all times. Further, I expect every person in a leadership position at all levels of the chain of command to make on-the-spot corrections where required to ensure safe training and operations. Our people are our most valuable resource, and we must protect them by intelligent and caring leadership.

Family Program Office opens

The Hawaii National Guard family program got a major boost on April 13, 1987, with the opening of the State Family Program Coordinator's Office. As a way of an introduction, I am Dave Price and was hired to coordinate our family programs for both the Army and Air Guard. This job presents a great challenge and I look forward to serving the Guard family. Let me take a moment to tell you a little about what we are doing and the direction that we will take in the coming months.

The primary objective for our family program is to prepare our families for times when the Guard member is absent—be it annual training, overseas deployment training, state active duty, or even the extreme case of federal mobilization. We know that family preparedness in personal affairs is just as much a part of overall readiness as training, maintenance, or the other activities upon which readiness is normally measured.

We believe that a better prepared and informed family will feel more secure about their personal affairs and, therefore, support the member's continued participation in the Guard. All too many times, when a member chooses not to extend his membership in the Guard, or just quits coming to drill, it's a problem of having the family and the Guard competing for his or her time. Those are hard choices to make, and all too often the Guard loses good people as a result. We believe that if the family is better informed about the importance of the Guard and the benefits, in terms of pay, insurance, tuition waiver, exchange, commissary and other direct advantages, the family will support the Guard members.

We are moving at a rapid pace to get our program going, but we are not going to lose sight of the many outstanding family activities that are already going on in the Army and Air Guard at the organizational level. We want to reinforce and strengthen those activities that have already proven successful. And, where programs are weak, we want to provide guidance, resources, and encouragement to make them better.

We will publish and distribute a Family Handbook later this year, one which will help a Guard member and his or her family organize those all-important personal affairs. Also later this year, we will have a complete up-to-date Community Service Directory which will list every family support resource available to families in Hawaii. Annual family orientation briefings will be conducted in each unit, and every family member will be invited and encouraged to attend. We are considering publishing a semi-annual newsletter beginning in 1988 so that we can continue to inform our families of changes and ongoing activities. We want to organize and develop a strong volunteer program, and then provide those volunteers with the training they need to be effective. If resources permit, we may be able to establish our Information Clearing Office with a toll-free number so that we can get help for our families in both normal or critical times.

These are only ideas at this stage, but we can dream only so long. These dreams must become reality. Only then can we begin to see the results in overall readiness. If you have thoughts, comments, or ideas, give me a call or drop by to see me. I am located in Building 306A on the second floor. That's the building right behind Department of Defense Headquarters on Diamond Head Road. My phone number is 732-1823. Let me hear from you. I need your kokua as we move together toward a better Hawaii National Guard.

Makaha's son mixes military and music

HANA HOU, HOKU WINNER—Sgt. Louis "Moon" Kauakahi of the Hawaii Army National Guard's Recruiting and Retention Office, and his group, the Makaha Sons of Ni'ihau won three Hoku Awards for their album, Ho'ola. Sgt. Kauakahi is shown inset on the album jacket, in his class B uniform.

What does the Hawaii Army National Guard, the Makaha Sons of Ni'ihau, and the 1987 Na Hoku Hanohano Awards have in common? Makaha's very own Sgt. Louis "Moon" Kauakahi of the Recruiting and Retention Office.

Sgt. Kauakahi, along with Israel Kamakawiwoole and John and Jerry Koko, form the Hawaiian musical group "Makaha Sons of Ni'ihau." The group recently celebrated its tenth year in show business. Their roots were always in Hawaiian music and they are part of the rebirth of the music in local popularity.

At the 10th Annual "Hoku" (Hawaii's version of the Grammy Music Awards), the group scooped four of the major awards for their album "Ho'ola" (Poki Records): Group of the Year, Traditional Hawaiian Album of the Year, Album of the Year, and Haku Mele (Hawaiian Language Song/Chant) which is a composer's award, for the song "Ho'Ola Lahui Hawai'i," written by Jean Ileialoha Benjamina, a native of Ni'ihau.

Six-string guitarist/vocalist/composer/arranger/leader "Moon" has musical roots that go back to Makaha, where he enjoyed classical, chamber and orchestral, as well as Hawaiian music. He and the other members of the Sons, who grew up or resided in Makaha and discovered that they all had families who came to O'ahu from Ni'ihau, hence the name of the group.

Sgt. Kauakahi's career in the Army Guard started in March 1973, with Service Battery, 487th Field Artillery, as an ammunition handler. He's been with the recruiting office since May 1986, as an administrative specialist. The Guard has given him full time employment, a chance to further his education (both military and civilian), and still enables him to pursue a professional music career.

Sgt. "Moon" Kauakahi, with his full time duties, musical career, and family life (wife Lydia and daughter Sheyenne), still finds time to eclipse the nets with Hawaii National Guard Volleyball teams.

Soldier, musician, family man, and athlete Sgt. Louis Kauakahi continues to strive to be a modern day renaissance man and a success in all of his endeavors.

KEYS TO SUCCESS—Tech. Sgt. Lowell J. Agena of the Hawaii Air National Guard's 202nd Air Traffic Control Flight, poses before the "tools" that helped him win the Air Force Communications Command Air National Guard/Air Force Reserve Noncommissioned Officer of the Year Award for 1986.

Tech. Sgt. Lowell J. Agena was named the Air Force Communications Command (AFCC) Air National Guard/Air Force Reserve Noncommissioned Officer of the Year for 1986. The announcement was made by Maj. Gen. John T. Stilh, the AFCC commander.

Sgt. Agena is the Production Controller and Maintenance Support Supervisor in the 202nd Air Traffic Control Flight, located at Barking Sands, Hawaii. He was recognized as a professional performer by the AFCC Inspector General Team during both the unit's operational readiness inspection (ORI) and the unit's effectiveness inspection (UEI) in 1986.

Using his self-taught computer skills, Sgt. Agena developed checklists for the ORI and UEI, and for monitoring the units training program. These actions, aided by his natural leadership abilities, were an important part of the reasons behind his unit's success in the ORI and the UEI.

This annual AFCC awards program recognizes outstanding Air National Guard and Air Force Reserve personnel in the airman, NCO and senior NCO grades. Competition is extremely keen among the 15,000 assigned personnel.

Previously Sgt. Agena was recognized as the Hawaii Air National Guard Outstanding NCO for 1986. He is active in the West Kauai Jaycees, the Boy Scouts, and many other community organizations.

Sgt. Agena resides in Kekaha, Hawaii with his wife, Roberta, and their three children: Eric, Stacie, and Maylee.

Military dependent I.D. card

The identification cards for dependents (DA Form 5431 and AF Form 447) are cards primarily used only for identification purposes.

The card by itself does not extend any benefit and is used in conjunction with authorization forms for entry to exchanges, commissaries and other military facilities.

Authorization forms used at the exchanges are the Leave and Earnings Statement (LES) for the Army and Air Guard. Commissaries require the December LES for the Army Guard and the Commissary Earnings Statement (CES) for the Air Guard.

The Guard member's spouse or children between 10 and 21 years old, (23 if a full time student) are eligible for these cards. Supporting documents required are a marriage and/or birth certificate. The expiration date of the ID cards will be 4 years from issue date, end of service, or 21st birthday for children, whichever is sooner.

The Army's DA Form 1172 (Application for Uniformed Services Identification and Privilege Card) is used to apply for the ID card. The cards are issued to eligible family members during scheduled Hawaii Army National Guard readiness for mobilization exercises (REMOBES) and effective October 1, 1988, ID valid cards will be the only acceptable identification for Army Reserve Component family members wishing to use the commissaries.

Hawaii Air National Guard has applications available by contacting the 154th Composite Group, Consolidated Base Personnel Office, Customer Assistance Section, at 449-5669.

NCO of the Year

Perfection is the call word for the Hawaii Army National Guard's (HIARNG) Non-Commissioned Officer (NCO) of the Year Staff Sgt. Wallace M. Kawakami. He is the Small Arms Repairer of Company D (Maintenance), 29th Support Battalion.

Sgt. Kawakami's expertise in small arms repair led him to a voluntary demotion from a Warrant Officer position to Staff Sergeant to enable him to work full time at Schofield Barracks, in the same capacity.

He is highly respected for his knowledge of both mechanical or technical aspects of small arms repair and the administrative requirements of armament maintenance operations on the direct support level.

Kawakami and his Armament Maintenance Section have provided stand-by maintenance support for HIARNG units conducting range firing operations. He has served as primary instructor for numerous classes on small arms maintenance.

He is also at home on the firing line, qualifying as an expert marksman with the M16A rifle. His skills extend to the field of competition as member of the Hawaii National Guard Rifle Team, in local and mainland matches.

Through Staff Sgt. Kawakami's leadership by example, his subordinates willingly follow his authority without question, he works at retaining his people and recruited two new soldiers into the unit.

BY THE BOOK—Staff Sgt. Wallace W. Kawakami, Company D (maintenance), 29th Support Battalion, Hawaii Army National Guard's NCO of the Year refers to a small arms technical repair manual.

His civilian and military education has earned him the highest military occupational school (MOS) in the unit, a 63H40 (Maintenance Control Sergeant).

HIARNG's 29th Support Battalion is proud to have Staff Sgt. Wallace Kawakami represent the outstanding caliber of NCOs in the Hawaii Guard.

Soldier of the Year

It's a hula dancer...it's a motorcyclist...yes it's Super Specialist 4 Palmyra K. Hethcote, who in her day-to-day role is the unit clerk for the 292nd Service and Supply Company, Hawaii Army National Guard (HIARNG), and HIARNG Soldier of the Year.

Yes, the same 292nd of the 297th Supply and Service Battalion, Troop Command, that has produced the previous two years outstanding enlisted individual E-4 and below, Specialists 4 Carmen K. Kanei and Scott Casey.

Spec. 4 Hethcote, described by officers and NCOs (non-commissioned officers) as the best unit clerk we have in the battalion, earned the reputation through diligence, dedication, technical competence and professionalism.

She works well with all levels of command, her peers and subordinates, making her a valuable asset wherever and whatever she is assigned to.

Hethcote displayed outstanding effort during the successful Exercise Gallant Eagle '86, where despite the adverse conditions of the hot, dusty desert, she continued to work professionally. She aided in fostering a close working relationship with the active component during the exercise and received many commendable performance comments.

Her skills excel away from the desk as well, she's a qualified sharpshooter with the M16A rifle and a superb recruiter. Spec. 4 Hethcote was instrumental and directly responsible for recruiting ten individuals into the Hawaii Army National Guard. She has also inspired others in the unit to continue their service with the Guard, contributing to the 292nd's sustained strength.

The Motorcross Association, Aloha Supercross Association, and the Hale O Pele Halau mena Kealoha O Polynesia (hula club) keep Hethcote occupied off duty hours.

Spec. 4 Palmyra Hethcote's performance of duty and dedication to the Hawaii Army National Guard makes her an outstanding choice for HIARNG Soldier of the Year.

GETTING BACK TO BUSINESS—Spec. 4 Palmyra K. Hethcote (center), the Hawaii Army National Guard's Soldier of the Year, resumes her duties as unit clerk for the 292nd Service & Supply Company, after the presentation ceremony with State Command Sgt. Maj. William Duncan.

HNGA Holds productive annual meeting

The Hawaii National Guard Association (HNGA) held its business meeting and annual banquet this year at the Sheraton Waikiki, on May 23.

During the morning business meeting, eleven resolutions were proposed by the Hawaii Army National Guard and ten were passed. The resolutions passed deal with:

- Army Continuing Education System (ACES).
- Selected Reserve Incentive Program.
- Student Loan Repayment Program.
- Health benefits and privilege cards for survivors of National Guard members.
- Full exchange and commissary privileges.
- Inactive duty training points for retirement.
- Uniform allowance.
- Multiple Integrated Lazer Engaging System (MILES).

- Compensation to soldiers who must go to a medical clinic for National Guard purposes, during non-military hours.
- Physical fitness education and training during duty hours.

The business meeting concluded with the election of new officers and a report by the President of HNGA, Col. William Spillane.

In the evening, the annual HNGA Banquet featured a seven course Chinese dinner, the Honolulu Boys choir, and the traditional awards program with Maj. Gen. Alexis T. Lum, state adjutant general and Brig. Gen. Edward V. Richardson, assistant adjutant general, air, as presenters.

The James Y. Sato Memorial Award was presented to Lt. Col. Clinton R. Churchill, 199th Tactical Fighter Squadron's "B" flight commander, Hawaii Air National Guard (HIANG).

Lt. Col. Myron N. Dobashi, Operations Training Officer, for the 150th Aircraft Control & Warning Squadron,

Keeping "America Beautiful Week"

April is usually the time for spring cleaning and Department of Defense employees did their part in observing "Keep America Beautiful Week."

Twenty-five members of the Hawaii National Guard (HNG) military and civilian staff participated in the 1987

Skygate Trash Bash, on Friday, April 24. The Civic Center's Community Work Day project had the HNG cleaning an area off the slopes of Punchbowl Crater.

The following day, 55 members and friends of the HNG participated in the Diamond Head Clean-up Program. The Hawaii Chamber of Commerce headed the project and asked all the military commands in Hawaii to provide support.

Garden Island Guard gets involved in the community

The Hawaii National Guard (HNG) is involved in the Kauai community year round. In May, they participated in events in Hanapepe and Lihue.

The Color Guards and marching units of the Hawaii Air National Guard's 150th Aircraft Control & Warning Squadron (150th ACWS) and 202nd Air Traffic Control Flight and the Hawaii Army National Guard's 111th Army Band, helped Kauai's 'Ele'ele School celebrate their sesquicentennial (150th anniversary) at a parade in Hanapepe. (Photo to the left)

In Lihue, airmen like Master Sgt.

Lester T. Matsushima, 150th ACWS, (Photo to the right) volunteered their time at Kauai's American Lung Association Superkinds competition. Squadron personnel served in a variety of capacities: age-group leaders, starters, timers, scorers, and overall supervisors for various events. Over 200 children participated in events for five and under, and 6-12. The 150th ACWS also provided personnel for the flag raising during the National Anthem and the Color Guard for the closing ceremony.

We the People of the United States, in order to form a more perfect Union, establish Justice, insure domestic Tranquillity, provide for the common defence, promote the general Welfare, and secure the Blessings of Liberty to ourselves and our Posterity, do ordain and establish this Constitution for the United States of America.

1987 has been declared by President Reagan as the Year of Thanksgiving for the United States Constitution. This is the Constitution's 200th anniversary. We have only a short time until we commemorate the signing of the Constitution on September 17, 1987. George Washington said of the Constitution that it is, "sacredly obligatory to us all," and that its existence, "constitutes (us) as one people."

The Constitution consists of a preamble and 26 Articles known as the Amendments to the Constitution. We need to be especially mindful of the first 10 Amendments known as the Bill of Rights.

The Preamble of the United States Constitution begins with the familiar "WE THE PEOPLE OF THE UNITED STATES IN ORDER:

- To form a more perfect union
- To establish justice
- To insure domestic tranquillity
- To provide for the common defense
- To promote the general welfare and
- Secure the blessing of liberty to ourselves and our posterity, do ordain and establish this Constitution of the United States.

This is the reason why we celebrate the Bicentennial of the Constitution. As members of the Armed Forces of the United States, our first official act when we enlisted or accepted commissions into military service was to swear an oath to defend and support the Constitution of the United States.

The Oath of Service that we took during our enlistment represents an affirmation of our loyalty and allegiance to the Constitution, a living document which is the foundation of our rights and way of life. Clearly, this represents our commitment to insure our freedoms and willingness to sacrifice separation from loved ones or acceptance of a dangerous military career.

This very act makes us unique from many Americans. Why? Because only members of the Armed Forces swear this oath to defend and support the very cornerstone of our government and way of life. To keep our freedom, we must make personal sacrifices to retain the blessings of liberty which we have acquired.

"1987 Army Birthday"

On June 14th the Army celebrated its 212th birthday. It was a day for all to remember that the active along with the Guard and Reserve, forms the Army of our country, the Total Army. And it is an Army of which every American is proud of.

The Army is older than our Country. It was created out of necessity to win our freedom to form a nation. The continued need of the Army to protect what was won on the battlefield at Yorktown was recognized by the Framers of the Constitution. They wrote in the Constitution's Preamble that among its purposes was to provide for the common defense and secure the blessings of liberty. On this 212th birthday of the Army we are reminded that 1987 is the Bicentennial of the Constitution, which gave our Country life, and which generations of soldiers have fought to defend.

Our Country remains free today not only because of the Army's brave deeds of the past, but because of the magnificent service of the men and women of today's Total Army. We can be proud of the Army's heritage as we move forward together in the same great tradition.

"Let's go fishing," military style

Six soldiers and airmen from Hawaii's National Guard joined 34 other military servicemen and women fishing off the Big Island's Kona Coast, for a special edition of KHON's "Let's Go Fishing."

The Army Guard's Sgt. 1st Class Harry Miller, Hawaii Military Academy; Sgt. 1st Class Thomas Chock and Sgt. Heriberto Quintana, Recruiting and Retention Office; joined the Air Guard's Master Sgt. Robert Davis, 154th Civil Engineering Squadron; Master Sgt. Wayne Soma, 154th Combat Support Squadron, and Tech. Sgt. Glen Sukanuma, 201st Combat Communications Group, in the five hour fishing expedition on April 29.

The event was planned and arranged by the Hawaii Chamber of Commerce in conjunction with Hawaii Military Week, May 11-17.

The group was joined on the 85-foot "Point Loma" by Hari Kojima, host of "Let's Go Fishing"; producer/director Bib Pritchard; and cameraman Bruce Barham.

Sergeants 1st Class Harry Miller and Tom Chock agreed that a goodtime was had by all. Chock said, "There was such an abundance of fish that every time your line was dropped, you caught a fish."

A barbeque cook-out segment was filmed on May 19, at Ft. DeRussy, with representatives from the different services in attendance. Instead of the normal studio chair set-up, the military fishermen stood behind Mr. Kojima at parade rest.

The edited video was broadcasted on May 24, at 5 p.m., Channel 2.

The fishing expedition prove to be a positive reward incentive to all who attended.

Warrior runners recognized

On May 24th, the air was cool and the sky was clear as the sun rose over Diamond Head. The second annual Hawaii Army National Guard Warrior Fun Run began after 160 runners checked-in and received their numbers.

The 4-mile course started and finished inside Diamond Head Crater. It was open to all Hawaii Army National Guard (HIARNG) soldiers, their immediate families, and HIARNG civilian employees. The $8.00 entry fee covered t-shirts and refreshments.

Race director and organizer Sgt. Leland Tobias, Headquarters State Area Command (HQ STARC), created the Fun Run to promote physical fitness within the Army Guard. Tobias' capable committee members were:

- Maj. Claude T. Ishida, HQ STARC - assistant race director/route
- Sgt. 1st Class Alvin Wong, HQ STARC - refreshments
- Staff Sgt. Raymond Ganotise, HQ STARC - parking
- Sgt. Leonard Garcia, Co. B (Med) - medical support
- Sgt. Tracy Mauiola, HQ STARC - registration, t-shirts
- Sgt. 1st Class Samuel K. Akau, Jr., HQ STARC - route

Spec. 4 Lance Kamisugi, HIARNG

AND THE WINNERS ARE...—Spec 4 Shirley N. Abe, Headquarters State Area Command and Spec. 4 Melvin K. Masaki, Co. A (Admin), 29th Support Battalion were first female and male finishers at the Second Annual Hawaii Army National Guard Warrior Fun Run. Spec. 4 Abe was the first female (30:42 minutes). Spec. 4 Masaki was the first to finish overall (25:42 minutes).

- Sgt. 1st Class William Hue, HQ STARC - timing, results
- Staff Sgt. Wade Reeves, HQ STARC - water station
- Staff Sgt. Leslie Yamamoto, HQ STARC - finish
- Maj. Walter Kinoshita, HQ STARC - awards

This year's Warrior Fun Run had 45 more participants than last year and three 15-runner teams in the platoon racing category.

In addition to awards for the overall top finishers, age category winners, platoon, and best unit participation, there was a special award for courage and determination.

There were also random prizes for many, but everyone was a winner for participating in the second annual HIARNG Warrior Fun Run.

Marathon winners

Rain and cool temperatures did not dampen the spirits of the 12 Hawaii National Guard marathon runners at the National Guard Bureau (NGB) Marathon held in Lincoln, Nebraska, on May 3.

The Hawaii Army National Guard's (HIARNG) Hilo runner, Sgt. Thomas Parel led the Hawaii contingent with a 3:04:46 time.

The heavy rains slowed down the pace of last year's winner in the NGB woman division, Capt. Shirley A. Schmitt (HIARNG) finished second with a 3:24:58. Capt. Schmitt, running in her third NGB Marathon, qualified for the NGB Team which will compete in the Marine Marathon, to be held November at Washington, D.C.

Spec. 4 Shirley Abe (HIARNG) placed first in the female 14-24 age bracket and Staff Sgt. Carol Keanini (Hawaii Air National Guard) came in third in the female 40-44 age division. Chief Warrant Officer George Oshiro (HIARNG) gave a strong showing for third place in the men 55 and over division.

The team left promising to come back next year.

Tennis

A small, but enthusiastic band of 21 Hawaii Army and Air National Guard personnel, their spouses and children converged on the Pearl Harbor Sub-Base tennis courts on April 18, 1987, to play in the 1st Hawaii National Guard Family Tennis Tournament.

The tournament had an Easter theme conceived by Brig. Gen. Edward V. Richardson, assistant adjutant general, air.

The tournament committee consisted of the Army Guard's Chief Warrant Officer James B. Lum (HQ, STARC) and Master Sgt. Larry Mun (HHC, 29th Support Battalion) and the Air Guard's Staff Sgt. Jose Madrid (201st Combat Communications Group) and Lt. Col. Chris Jay (199th Tactical Fighter Squadron) and his wife, Charlene Jay. Charlene shelled out the team names

Easter Aces, Rabbiters, and Egg-citements.

Seven player team played doubles and singles matches. Individuals were paired with a different partner on their team for each doubles match.

After two rounds of egg-citing competition, the Egg-citements netted the tournament title. The team was headed by Mel Asai. Candance Young, Manny Canoy, Mabel Tom, Jose Madrid, Chris Jay, and Ivan Tandel, Jr. complete the squad that shelled the competition.

There was a close race for second place. A playoff was held and winning by a hare were the Rabbiters, bunny bossed by Kyle Kaneshiro and hopping close behind by were James Lum, Valerie Ching, Carolyn Fujiyoshi, Ivan Tandel, Sr., Sanford Ching, and Carol Maehara.

Off by a rabbit's foot were the Easter Aces, egged-on by Richard Young and picking up the pieces were Larry Mun, Linda Oshiro, Matthew Madrid, Steve Fujiyoshi, Angeline Tandel, and George Tom.

The tournament concluded with prizes awarded to the champions and the runners-up.

Volleyball

It's a direct hit...it's three straight kills for outside hitter, Capt. Raymond Jardine, Jr., a training officer of the Hawaii Army National Guard's 193rd Aviation Battalion (Attack Helicopter). With the war on hold, Capt. Jardine hones his skills as one of the Hawaii Guard's finest volleyball players.

Jardine plays on the Hawaii National Guard, Hawaii Army National Guard, and the Outrigger Canoe Club volleyball teams as the power hitter. His prowess on the nets was nurtured at Kalani High School from 1969-71, where he was an all-star; at San Diego Evening College, his team made the quarter finals of the 1978 National Championship; at United States International University, selected as the MVP of the 1978-79 National Trials; and presently, since 1977, at the Outrigger Canoe Club, where he has an AA rating.

Capt. Jardine responded when asked to tryout for the All Army Volleyball Team at Ft. Lewis, Washington, this April. He was one of ten soldiers of 21 who made the team. Jardine not only made the team, but also the all-star interservice team. In addition, he was asked to join the national armed forces team as a player/assistant coach at the international games in Ankara, Turkey. Jardine declined, returning triumphant to his fulltime duties at the 193rd and off duty on the local volleyball courts.

June through September alert

Enter Hawaii's hurricane season prepared

Hurricane season in Hawaii generally runs from June through November, although hurricanes can occur at any time.

The most destructive forces in a hurricane are wind and water.

Winds

Hurricane winds are sustained measured winds of 74 mph (64 knots) or higher. However, winds of lesser speeds can cause considerable damage and impede human activity.

Hurricane force winds can cause major damage to structures and equipment exposed to these forces. Loss of electrical power and telephone service is most likely as poles and lines blow down or become tangled by tree limbs or debris. Hurricane force winds—74 mph or greater—may extend 100 miles from the storm center, while damaging winds of 40 mph or more may reach out as far as 300 miles from the "eye" of the hurricane.

The time between the first rise in wind and rainsqualls and return to normal winds after the storm is about 24 hours, depending on the size of the hurricane, its forward speed and proximity to the center of the storm.

Greg Yamamoto, Honolulu Advertiser

The winds of a hurricane—by definition 74 miles an hour or more—can be very dangerous. For some of Hawaii's lightly built homes and other structures, wind forces alone might be destructive, especially where augmented by local terrain effects. Structures on exposed ridges or situated to the lee of mountain passes that funnel the wind may be especially vulnerable to damage. One of the greatest threats from a hurricane's winds is their cargo of flying missiles, such as lawn furniture, signs, roofing materials and metal siding.

Floods

The amount of rainfall in each hurricane varies with the hurricane, its forward speed and other factors. As much as 30 inches of rainfall can occur as the hurricane passes through. Flash floods are a common result of heavy downpours.

Hurricane Iwa speeding by Kauai in November 1982 created surprisingly moderate rainfall.

When a hurricane approaches Hawaii, the news media will be reporting on the latest hurricane advisories received from the National Weather Service (NWS) in Honolulu.

During normal weather conditions, the NWS issues weather forecasts every 6 hours, beginning at 5 a.m. During a hurricane, however, advisories are issued every 3 hours giving storm location and characteristics.

In addition, information concerning storms as far as 1000 miles from Honolulu can be obtained from tuning in to marine forecasts on NOAA Weather Radio (162.55 MHz or 162.40 MHz) and Coast Guard Radio (156.8 MHz or 157.10 MHz).

LOCAL WEATHER STATEMENTS are issued by Weather Service Offices in Lihue, Honolulu, Kahului and Hilo to report local effects of the storm on county warning jurisdictions.

During an approaching hurricane, the National Weather Service issues the following advisories:

A HURRICANE WATCH is issued when there is a good possibility of hurricane conditions threatening coastal or inland communities within 36 hours or less. This is the time to take action to purchase supplies and secure homes and property. When a Hurricane Watch is given: STAY TUNED TO A LOCAL RADIO OR TV STATION FOR OFFICIAL WEATHER AND CIVIL DEFENSE INSTRUCTIONS.

A HURRICANE WARNING is issued when there is a very high possibility of hurricane force winds—sustained winds of 74 mph or more—within 24 hours or less. The warning will identify areas where these conditions are expected to occur.

Community Action

- Plan an emergency meeting place for family or friends in the event of separation.
- Fill automobile gas tank, check battery, oil and water.
- Prepare to evacuate if needed. Assemble a survival kit. Check that flashlights and radios are in working condition and have extra batteries on hand. Refill prescriptions and purchase other needed medications. Put together a 5-day supply of nonperishable foods that can be eaten without cooking. Check supply of candles, matches, fuel for camping stoves and lanterns, first aid supplies, pet foods and supplies. Restock if necessary.
- Sterilize containers for storing drinking water, including bathtubs and washing machines.
- Boat Owners! Secure boats and equipment before winds arrive. Remove small boats from water and tie down in safe place. If boat is securely moored, leave it and do not return when wind and waves are up. Human safety is more important than a secure boat.
- Ignore rumors. The best source of information is the radio.
- Do not travel during high wind conditions. If outside, seek immediate shelter. Flying debris can cause serious injury or worse.
- Park cars in garages or open spaces away from trees and utility poles. Do not park in underground garages which may flood.
- Bring pets inside. Have plenty of newspaper for sanitary purposes.

Make plans BEFORE the storm arrives to avoid the last minute rush which might leave people marooned or unprepared.

Roy Ito, Honolulu Advertiser

In the mainland U.S., floods and flash floods brought by hurricanes have at times been dangerous killers. Even a weakening storm can produce torrential rains capable of causing great damage and loss of life. In Hawaii, heavy hurricane rains falling on our steep hillsides can be expected to cause landslides, severe flash flooding, and the widespread overtopping of streams and ditches. In lowlands and other poorly drained areas, water from rainfall and runoff may accumulate to depths of several feet.

Storm Surge

During a hurricane there is a general rise in sea level. It begins over the deep ocean. The low pressure and strong winds around the hurricane's center raise the ocean surface several feet higher than the surrounding ocean surface forming a dome of water called storm surge, as much as 50 miles across.

Large swells, high surf and wind-driven waves, on top of the storm surge, will cause massive flooding and destruction along shorelines. The storm surge combined with wind driven waves is the greatest killer in a hurricane.

The surge is an extremely effective battering ram, capable of smashing smaller structures to rubble, eroding long stretches of beach and undermining poorly anchored buildings.

The worst storm surge and wave effect will be along the shorelines facing the oncoming storm.

Storyline by Hawaii State Civil Defense Public Information Office

- Keep phone lines clear, unless it is a definite emergency. Overuse saturates phone lines and hinders emergency operations.
- Keep calm until the emergency has ended.
- Be prepared to evacuate immediately if instructed to do so.
- Board or tape windows. Danger to small windows is mainly from wind driven debris. Larger windows may be broken by wind pressure. Close drapes and blinds.
- Secure outdoor objects that might be blown away. Garbage cans, garden tools, toys, lanai furniture, and other items may be blown about in high winds. Anchor these items or store them inside before the storm strikes.
- Store drinking water in clean bathtubs, jugs, bottles and cooking utensils. The water supply may be interrupted or contaminated.
- Check battery powered equipment. Radios may be the only link to outside information. Emergency cooking facilities, lights and flashlights will be essential if utilities are damaged and power is cut off.
- Monitor the storm's position through NWS advisories and bulletins broadcast over radio and TV.
- Beware of the "eye" of the hurricane. If the calm storm center passes directly overhead, there will be a lull in the wind lasting for a few minutes to half an hour or more. Stay in a safe place unless emergency repairs are absolutely necessary. Remember—at the opposite side of the center, winds can rise very rapidly to hurricane force and come from the opposite direction.
- Do not seal the house completely. Open a door or window slightly on the side away from the wind. Stay on the side of the house opposite the direction from which the wind is coming.
- Hurricanes in Hawaii may cause severe flooding in low-lying areas. Stay away from stream, river and coastal floodplains. Coastal inundation areas should be evacuated well in advance of the storm. If instructed to evacuate low-lying areas, follow instructions.

Wives' Auxiliary

The Na Kuhina Nui O Na Koa Hawaii women's auxiliary of the Hawaii National Guard announces their third annual scholarship awards for the coming school year. This year there are three recipients. Stacy Chow, Sherilyn Fukuji, and Douglas Y. Abe, Jr. will each receive $750.

If some of the names are familiar it is because Sherilyn and Douglas are past recipients.

First year winner is Stacy Chow, daughter of Iris and Maj. Michael Chow, 199th Tactical Fighter Squadron, Hawaii Air National Guard (199th TFS, HIANG). Stacy has just graduated from Kamehameha School and will be attending the University of Southern California this fall. Along with her excellent scholastic rating

Stacy is involved in extracurricular activities at school and church. She also finds time to enjoy swimming, aerobics and playing tennis.

Sherilyn Fukuji, daughter of Kathy and Tech. Sgt. Clifford Fukuji, 199th TFS, HIANG, has done an outstanding job maintaining a 3.5 grade point at Santa Clara University in California, while holding down a part time job and still finding time to enjoy college life.

Douglas Abe, son of Mary Kathy and Master Sgt. Douglas Y. Abe, Sr., 154th Consolidated Aircraft Maintenance Squadron, HIANG, is on his third year of the auxiliary's scholarship. He is continuing his studies at the University of Hawaii, maintaining a 3.22 grade point. Doug's schedule also includes disc jockeying at KZOO radio and working at the 442nd Veterans Club.

Stacy, Sherilyn and Doug . . . continue to make the auxiliary proud.

HNGEA

Hawaii National Guard Enlisted Association

Thanks to dedicated lobbying groups like the Hawaii National Guard Enlisted Association (HNGEA)/Enlisted Association of the National Guard of the United States (EANGUS), the commissary entitlement has been restored in a configuration in which you may go to the commissary (up to 14 times a year) at your convenience.

In its 23 years of existence, the HNGEA is proud to have been a moving force in revising the Guard's accessibility to the commissary. All are encouraged to use this privilege to its maximum benefit and abide by the rules of each commissary.

An organization is only as effective as the membership. Membership strength determines the voting power on issues, resolutions, and politics. Membership affects the amount of dues collected and operating funds available. The number of Army and Air Guard members directly determines the number of Guard council seats held on the HNGEA Executive Council (one seat per 150 members). On the national level, the number of delegates to the EANGUS conferences are one delegate per 200 members. The present strength is 1,300 members and the membership drive continues until August 1987.

The 16th Annual EANGUS Conference will be held September 20-23, in Louisville, Kentucky, at the Galt House Hotel. Nine delegates, headed by HNGEA vice president Master Sgt. Wayne Soma, 154th Combat Support Squadron, Hawaii Air National Guard (HIANG), will attend this year. Those interested in attending, call Master Sgt. Soma at 449-6986.

In place of the annual fundraiser, the HNGEA will conduct a three day Raffle Ticket Sale during the EANGUS Conference. At the end of each day, the $2.00 ticket holders will be eligible for gifts (donated) if their lucky number is called. Funds raised will go to the HNGEA and its scholarship fund.

The HNGEA newsletter, "Puali Koa," is one of seven entries in the 17th Annual EANGUS Publication Contest and the winners will be announced at the EANGUS Conference.

State Command Sgt. Maj. William Duncan, Senior Enlisted Hawaii Army National Guard advisor, was responsible for sending the correct State Crest for a wall display at the EANGUS national office in Washington, D.C.

Receiving the second half of her Association scholarship, another $250.00, was Marisa Ann Salvador, daughter of Master Sgt. Jose Salvador, 154th Consolidated Aircraft Maintenance Squadron, HIANG.

The 15th Annual HNGEA Business Meeting and Banquet will be held this year on Kauai, October 16-18. The proposed site is the Sheraton Poipu Hotel. Chairing this event is Master Sgt. Harvey Maeda, 202nd Air Traffic Control Flight, HIANG, councilman.

Get involved with HNGEA; We have a proud name and many past accomplishments.

By Staff Sgt. Jan DeRego, HIANG,
President HNGEA

DANTES Independent Study

Do you want to continue your education but cannot find the time to attend a college or university? Or do you find that the college closest to you does not offer the courses you would like to take or at the level you may require? If so, you will be interested in DANTES Independent Study.

• "What is DANTES?" The Defense Activity for Non-Traditional Education Support (DANTES) is a DoD activity with the mission to support members of the Armed Forces (to include the National Guard) continue their education through opportunities outside of the traditional classroom environment.

• "What is DANTES Independent Study?" It is a program of correspondence course or credit-by-examination tests offered by forty regionally accredited universities such as the University of Washington, Brigham Young University, and the University of Alabama, which have entered into an agreement with DANTES. You can take the correspondence options (to include graduate level studies) in 21 major areas of study as listed in the DANTES Independent Study Catalog (DISC). If you successfully complete a correspondence course, you will be awarded academic credit and can have your credits posted on bona fide university's transcript as if you attended classes at that particular college.

• "How much does a course cost?" The cost of correspondence courses varies for each course and institution, but most fall within the $40-$50 per semester hour range. The DISC contains a description of each participating university, the independent study options it offers, and the correspondence fees which include the cost of tuition, textbooks, other necessary course materials, postage, handling charges.

• "How are fees to be paid?" You can pay all required fees by personal check made out to the college at the time of application/registration.

• "Can ACES TA be used for DANTES Independent Study?" If authorized, you can receive ACES tuition assistance (TA) only after you successfully complete a correspondence course or examination. You submit to the HIARNG CivEd Officer your registration slip and evidence (e.g., report card) that you received a passing grade. You will then be reimbursed the portion of your tuition fee which is authorized under ACES TA policies.

• "Can I participate in DANTES Independent Study even if I am not authorized ACES TA?" Yes. You can participate in DANTES Independent Study options even if you are not authorized ACES TA provided you assume all cost out of your personal funds.

• "How do I apply?" The first thing you need to do is decide which correspondence option (course or exam) you would like to take by referring to a DISC. For the units located on Hawaii and Maui, a DISC may be found at your battalion headquarters. On the island of Kauai, a DISC is located at Co A, 1/299th Inf. Oahu troops can find a DISC at any Army Education Center, HQ, 29th Inf Bde, HQ, 1/487th FA, or the HIARNG Education and Incentive Office.

Once you have made your selection, you must complete a DD Form 2004, DANTES Independent Study Application Form, which is used to enroll you in the college and to register you for the course or exam you wish to take.

You then send your DD Form 2004 and your personal check for the entire amount stated in the DISC to the HIARNG CivEd Officer. Your application will be reviewed for completeness and processed for you.

• "Then what?" Like military correspondence courses, the college will then mail to your mailing address on your DD Form 2004, course books, materials, and specific instructions as to what you are required to do. You are responsible for completing all course assignments and tests, and for mailing them back to the college for grading.

• "How long do I have to complete a correspondence option?" It varies for each participating institution; however, normally you have one year in which to finish your correspondence option.
